

Two Arterial Projects Down on Priority List

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON Two major city road construction projects, the Ulster Arterial downtown and the Albany Avenue Arterial have been "pushed down" the State Department of Transportation's priority list, according to State Senator Jay P. Rolison Jr. (R-Dutchess-Ulster) who investigated the situation in answer to numerous questions from the Kingston area.

"There appears to be disagreement between the local office (Poughkeepsie) of the Department of Transportation and Albany concerning the Ulster Arterial," Rolison told The Freeman. "Poughkeepsie had construction set for next year. Albany wants to put it off until 1973."

Rolison also reported that the Albany Avenue arterial had been "pushed down." "It won't come as quickly as they had thought," he said.

Rolison reasoned that the $2.5 billion transportation bill is due, on the ballot this fall, could be the key factor. "Those projects aren't necessarily tied to the bond issue," Rolison said. "But if the bond issue doesn't get approved, everything will have to be reevaluated."

Rolison reported that final plans for the Ulster Arterial have been completed and that property acquisition had started. Property acquisition for new roads all over the state has stopped, however, as the State Department of Transportation awaits the outcome of the vote on the bond issue.

Rolison considers the Ulster Arterial, approved by the city last summer, a high priority project for Kingston. "Perhaps Clark (Assemblyman H. Clark Bell) and I could be helpful in getting it moved up," he said. Rolison had no comment on the Albany Avenue Arterial which is still in the planning stages.

The Ulster Arterial which will begin near Port Ewen, cross the Rondout Creek at the foot of Hasbrouck Avenue, rise to a traffic exchange at Hasbrouck and Delaware Avenues and continue out parallel to East Chester Street to Route 32, is the key to Kingston's financing of its two urban renewal projects.

Under the federal formula, the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) pays 75 per cent of the cost of an urban renewal project with the remaining 25 per cent to be made up with "local expenditures." "Local," in Kingston's case, means half for the city and half for the state. Non-cash credits in the form of construction projects in an urban renewal area by any "local" entity can be used to satisfy the locality's federal urban renewal obligations. Such is the case in Kingston. The state road will more than cover the city's one-eighth share of the overall $25,000,000 cost of the Broadway East and Uptown Renewal Projects. Without the Ulster Arterial, the city could be liable for more than $3 million to the federal government.

The state had announced plans to widen Albany Avenue to relieve traffic congestion. That project has been bitterly opposed by residents in the area who contend that the widening would only ruin one of the city's most scenic streets and would in no way relieve traffic congestion. They contend that the problem is not from the Colonel Sharpe Cemetery on Albany Avenue to Foxhall Avenue but from Foxhall Avenue out to the shopping plazas in the Town of Ulster. The Common Council would have to approve any arterial plans the state might have for Albany Avenue.

The Council will meet in regular session on Oct. 5 and act on at least three requests from Mayor Francis R. Koenig. The chief executive will ask the aldermen to approve a three-man assessor board of review as required by state law.

Also coming from Koenig is his city program under the county's Emergency Employment program, which requires Council passage, a ruling established by the county.

The Council is also expected to give Koenig authorization to negotiate for the city purchase of three parking lots in the Central Broadway business area.

Also, the mayor is expected to appoint a new assessor to a six-year term to replace Matthias G. Richardson, who retires on Sept. 29. The six-year appointment is also required under the state's Assessment Improvement Law.

RUMORS PERSIST—Diplomatic sources with contacts in Peking have reported that an unusual Red Chinese conference slated for today has been postponed for 24 hours. They said there was no indication exactly what was to be announced, but speculated the most likely explanation was the illness or even death of Mao Tse-tung, the 77-year-old Communist Party leader. ### Agnew on Attica Prison Revolt

Rocky Praised, Press Rapped

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI)—Vice President Spiro Agnew praised Gov. Nelson Rockefeller Monday for putting down the Attica prison revolt and said the "liberal press" portrayed "criminals as heroes" in its coverage of the uprising.

"A governor of a state cannot allow himself to pre-emptively be summoned into the presence of outlaws," Agnew told the 78th annual conference of the International Chiefs of Police.

On news coverage of the revolt, Agnew said, "We again find wide and relatively uncritical exposure being given the most inflammatory and baseless charges made by radical militants and their counsel—not to mention in this instance, convicted criminals."

"How many murderers, robbers, burglars and rapists become known to the public by affectionate nicknames and the awed recital by the liberal press of their organizational or oratorical ability?" Agnew asked.

The 5,000 delegates to the convention interrupted Agnew with applause eight times during his speech and gave him a standing ovation when he finished.

Agnew said the revolt was "the creation of yet another cause celebre in the pantheon of radical revolutionary propaganda."

The vice president said the name "Attica" now "joins the list of geographic place names and slogans whose very utterance, in the litany of anti-American hate preached by radical propagandists, is a dagger at the heart of our country's free institutions."

"Certainly the members of this audience would be among the first to recognize that, though the place names and slogans change, the modus operandi in the development of these celebrated radical left causes remains the same," Agnew said.

"This holds true from their genesis until their final anointment by editorial polemicists, who then righteously display them as the latest examples of the enduring guilt of American society."

New York State will draw $4 million from emergency funds to pay for Attica damage. Story Page 4.

The ultimate issue at Attica, Agnew said, was not prison reform. "No, the issue at Attica—like the issue involved whenever the orderly processes of a free society are confronted by those who place themselves above or beyond the law—is whether that society's free institutions are to survive or go under."

In the past 10 years 633 American law enforcement officers have been killed as a result of criminal action, Agnew said.

"When those who protect us are attacked, we are all attacked. When those who safeguard our institutions are endangered, our institutions are endangered."

"When those few assigned to uphold our laws give their lives in the conduct of their duty, then we, the many who survive, have a renewed responsibility to see to it that their sacrifice was not in vain—that the government of law for which they died is upheld against those who would destroy it," he said.

Meanwhile, in Rochester, the

AP reports that Conservative

Republican U. S. Sen. James Buckley accused the press Monday of doing "an injustice to penal reform and those prisoners who refused to take part in the revolt," in its coverage of the recent Attica Prison uprising.

The freshman senator from New York said he had several objections to the press coverage of the Attica affair, but its main shortcoming was its "failure to report the highly political character of the revolt."

Buckley said he objected to accounts that made the prisoners out to be the heroes and state officials, especially Gov. Rockefeller, as villains.

"The American public will not buy the pro-prisoner line that seems to characterize so much of the reporting," he said.

The remarks were made at the annual meeting of the New York State Associated Press Association, the organization of AP member newspaper editors in New York.

Buckley was preceded at the meeting by U.S. Sen. Henry Jackson, a Washington State Democrat, who deferred from making comments on the Attica situation.

"I'm not about to second guess what was wrong or what was right at Attica," Jackson said. "I don't have enough information."

The potential candidate for his party's presidential nomination was in the Rochester area to address the Monroe County Democratic organization. His comments to the editor were confined mainly to President Nixon's economic policies and the country's current economic problems.

Buckley spoke at length on Attica and he said the current state of unrest in prisons could be traced to a general permissiveness in recent years in American society.

The senator said, "We are only now reaping in our prisons the harvest of the seeds of permissiveness that were planted elsewhere."

Upstate Worker Killed

Ruby Explosion Tragedy Probed

By WALTER S. CLARK

TOWN OF ULSTER Authorities are continuing investigation into a dynamite blast that occurred Monday in a densely wooded area of the hamlet of Ruby and took the life of one construction worker and seriously injured another, according to Hurley State Police.

Donald Coburn McHugh, 52, of 52 Spring Street, Afton, Chenango County, perished when a dynamite blast he was setting in a hole went off prematurely, investigators said. Richard Ernest Wynn, 45, of Box 33, Georgetown, Madison County, the foreman on the job where the explosion occurred, was taken to Benedictine Hospital suffering serious head, body and abdominal injuries.

According to an investigation by Senior BCI Investigator Joseph Valicenti, Investigator W. E. Beyea and Trooper G. R. Mack, McHugh died of "complete disembowelment" caused by contact with the dynamite blast.

It was about 11:50 a.m. yesterday when McHugh was setting a charge of dynamite in a hole being constructed for a utility pole on the property of the Central Hudson Gas and Electric Corp. in the woods two-tenths of a mile west of Main Street in Ruby. Wynn was standing at the edge of the newly dug hole.

Suddenly, troopers reported, the dynamite for some unexplained reason, exploded. The force of the blast hurled McHugh literally skyrocketing into the air for a distance of 75 yards, troopers said. The workman's body slammed into a large tree before it plummeted to the ground.

The force of the explosion virtually rocked the entire area for some distance away from the spot where the dynamite went off.

State Police were notified and an ambulance sped to the scene with the investigators.

Ulster County Coroner Henry S. Hartley of Saugerties was called and he joined the state police.

Police said the two men were employed by Granite Construction Company, which had a dynamite license issued by the State Labor Department. Troopers said McHugh's license had expired on Sept. 7.

Investigators were endeavoring to determine what caused the dynamite to go off prematurely.

According to State Police, information about the fatal blast was delayed until families of the two men involved had been notified.

Long Mindszenty Exile Ends

ROME (UPI)—Cardinal Jozsef Mindszenty today ended 15 years of self-imposed refuge in the U.S. Embassy in Budapest and flew to Rome, ending a saga that began in 1956 when Soviet tanks crushed the Hungarian rebellion.

Mindszenty, now 79, fled to the U.S. Embassy on Nov. 4, 1956, in the last hours of the Hungarian revolt. For the past 15 years his presence within the embassy had thwarted relations between Hungary and the Vatican.

His departure from Hungary was announced by Radio Budapest which said the departure was the result of an arrangement between the Communist regime of Hungary and the Vatican. He left Budapest at 8:30 a.m. (2:30 a.m. EDT) but his departure was not announced for nearly eight hours.

He was driven to Vienna airport by Vatican representatives and flew direct to Rome where he was met at Rome's Leonardo da Vinci Airport by Vatican Secretary of State Cardinal Jean Villot. He was driven straight to the Vatican.

The Vatican has negotiated for years with Mindszenty and the Hungarian government for a solution to the diplomatic obstacles placed by Mindszenty's refusal to give up his self-imposed refuge. However, Mindszenty in past years insisted on walking out of the embassy a free man.

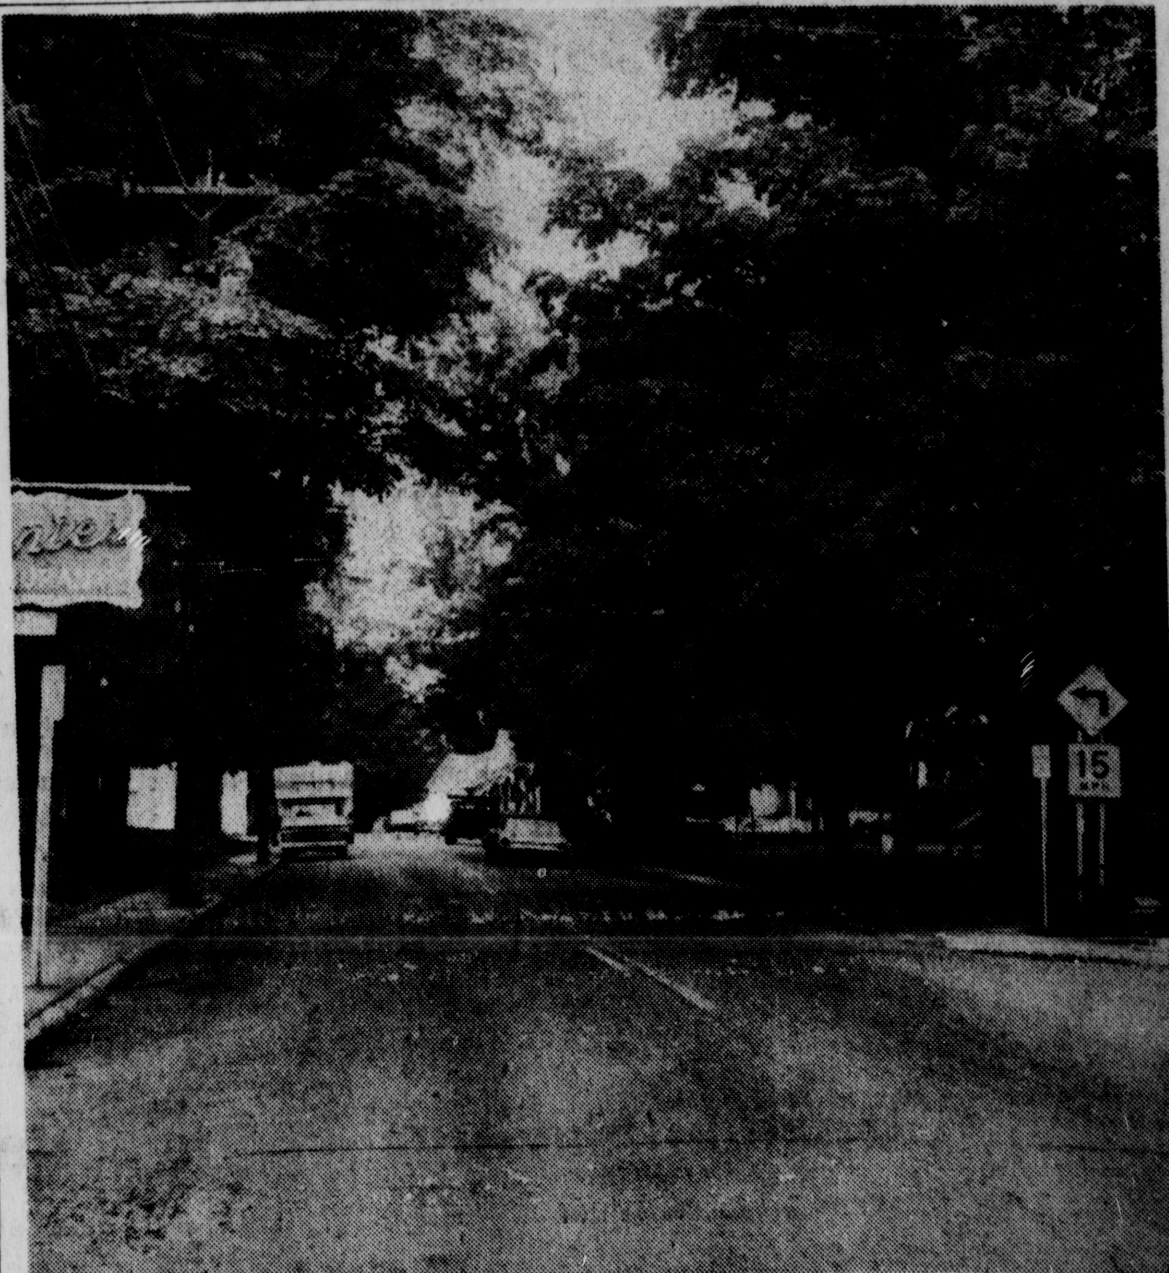

Mindszenty had been sentenced to life imprisonment in 1949 by the Hungarian regime for alleged high treason and black marketeering, but he was freed briefly by Hungarian freedom fighters before he received asylum in what was then the U.S. legation.

Through the years his presence there was a deep embarrassment to the United States, to Hungary and to the Vatican. And in Hungary he became a forgotten man—his name was never used in Hungarian newspapers and there probably were young Hungarians who had never heard of him.

But to the Communist regime in Hungary he remained as a vivid reminder of the suppression of the Hungarian revolt.

Ironically, it was Mindszenty himself who blocked his own freedom.

Bus Schedule Is Listed For Senior Citizens

KINGSTON The Senior Citizens Advisory Council, the Kingston Rotary Club and the Urban Transit Corporation have gotten together to provide free bus service for senior citizens, weekdays during the hours between 10 and 11:30 a.m. and 1 and 2 p.m.

A meeting was held on Friday between Jacob Nolfo, president of the Kingston Rotary Club, Alexander Yosman, coordinator of the Senior Citizens Advisory Council and Michael S. Perry, manager of urban transit, to work out the details. A previous plan had to be canceled due to what was described as "a misunderstanding" between the principals. Following the meeting, Perry announced that his firm was willing to enlarge the number of stops originally proposed and in addition, would offer free bus rides to all senior citizens on all routes in the city during the times of 10 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 2 p.m. during the next three months' experimental period.

Senior citizens using the regular bus routes will be required to show their Senior Citizen Merchant Participation Cards which are available from any bank in the area.

Wednesday will be Senior Citizen Shopping Day and it is hoped that merchants will have special sales for the city's elders on that day. "I am sure that the citizens of our area appreciate what the Kingston Rotary Club and the Urban Transit Company are doing to solve one of the most critical problems facing Senior Citizens," Yosman said in hailing the Rotary Senior Citizen Shopping Bus as a "major breakthrough."

Two Hurt, Driver Cited As Cars Collide in City

KINGSTON Two persons were injured and a motorist was cited by police for a vehicle and traffic violation following a rear-end collision that occurred Monday afternoon at the intersection of East Chester Street and Hasbrouck Avenue.

Police reported the vehicles involved were driven by Patrick R. Purvis, 19, of PO Box 45, Eddyville, and John G. Krupp, 37, R.D. 2, Box 161, Zena, Kingston. Purvis was cited for driving a car with inadequate brakes.

Both vehicles were westbound on East Chester and stopping for a red traffic light at the intersection when the brakes on the Purvis car failed and the vehicle ran into the rear of the Krupp automobile.

Injured and taken to Benedictine Hospital by Doctors Ambulance were John Krupp, 2, of Hilltop Apartments, Saugerties, who was treated for head injuries, and Anna Bockelmann, 36, of Hillcrest Gardens, Kingston, who was bleeding from the mouth.

A one car accident investigated by Ellenville State Police occurred at 5 p.m. on Granit Road in Accord. Trooper W. G. Lawrence reported June Fields, 38, of Kerhonkson, was driving the car at the time of the mishap, details of which were not available today.

The operator sustained multiple contusions. Passengers were Celia Fields, 15, who received lacerations of the right leg, and Earline Larkin, 39, of Jamaica, who suffered a fractured skull.

Accord Stone House Festival

The Rochester Reformed Church, Route 209 will hold its annual Stone House Day and Apple Festival Saturday. Tours of the homes of Roy Sklarin and Mr. and Mrs. Richard McBride will be featured starting from the church 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. A coffee shoppe will serve coffee and sandwiches for lunch and a country store with many homemade items, baked goods and produce will be open at the church grounds. A Yankee pot roast dinner will top off the day's festivities with serving from 4 to 7 p. m. The dessert table will feature apple treats.

The Benjamin Bruen House owned by Roy Sklarin (above) consists of three wings of distinctly different architectural periods which blend together to form one of the finest manor houses in the Hudson Valley. The original wing was built in 1781 from the remains of the Bruen house burned by the Indians in the raid on Wawarsing. This wing still has the charred beams which are nearly 250 years old. During the Second World War the house was owned by a Dr. Ford and was used by English girls as a home and school away from bomb ravaged London.

The DePuy-DeWitt house (below) owned by Mr. and Mrs. McBride was built before 1750 and is a typical frontier dwelling of the Rondout Valley. It was one of the houses raided in 1781 and used as a fort against the Indians. It is the oldest house in Wawarsing and is featured in Dutch Houses in The Hudson Valley Before 1776.

Some Tips Offered On Social Security

KINGSTON can answer questions and tell how to apply and when to do so. George J. Habernig, social security manager in Kingston, has some tips that may help save time and trouble when applying for social security benefits upon retirement. A telephone call to the social security office is a good first step. The people in the office can answer questions and tell how to apply and when to do so. When applying, bring the social security card or a record of social security number, proof of age, and last year's income tax withholding statement. (If self-employed, a copy of last year's income tax return and evidence of payment of the self-employed tax.)

House Committee OKs Consumer Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the bill was one of its original authors, Rep. Benjamin S. Rosenthal, D-N.Y., who charged the committee's rewriting had weakened the legislation. Two proposed amendments lost on the vote—and a series of Rosenthal's pro-Nader proposals failed, the key one by 20 to 14. This one would have allowed the agency to enter early phases of cases handled by other agencies.

Nader told reporters the committee-approved bill "deals with the tip of the consumer-abuse iceberg—only 10 per cent of anything that matters. Since Holifield has become a de facto member of the Republican party, there's a good chance it will be overturned on the floor."

But Holifield said the bill "will not satisfy Ralph Nader or the U.S. Chamber of Commerce but, if enacted into law, it will do a job for the American consumer. I regard this bill as landmark legislation. With its enactment, a new era will commence in consumer protection."

The chairman said the committee rejected amendments that would have changed the concept of the bill in two fundamental ways:

— "To arm the new consumer agency with powers of direct subpoena and unlimited intervention, enabling it to go on fishing expeditions, dominate the work of other government agencies, and become an instrument of regulation rather than of advocacy."

— "To disarm the new consumer agency by barring it from any intervention in other agency proceedings, limiting its role essentially to that of 'friend of the court.'"

The bill would set up the agency as an independent unit of government to be a consumer's advocate before other federal agencies and to promote consumer interests; give legal status to the White House's Office of Consumer Affairs.

Black Caucus Strategy On '72 Will Continue

NORTHLAKE, Ill. (AP) — Black political leaders decided at super-secret talks last week to continue working on several 1972 election strategies before committing themselves to any single one, several participants revealed today.

The 50 or so black elected officials and political strategists who came from around the country to talk for 2½ days in rooms guarded by an armed security force agreed to meet again in 30 to 60 days at a location not yet picked. They also decided to broaden dramatically the number of people involved by calling regional meetings.

Working under the name of the "National Assembly for a Black Political Strategy in '72," they set up five committees to raise money for future meetings, to decide where and when the meetings would be, and to draft more strategy papers for future discussions.

They were asked not to discuss publicly what they had talked about. But after being promised they would not be identified, a dozen who were there, some of whom disagreed with the request for silence, gave interviews that revealed the following:

Emergency Fund's $4 Million To Pay for Damage at Attica

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The state will draw $4 million from emergency funds to pay for damage at the Attica Correctional Facility during a five day rebellion and other expenses incurred in the aftermath of the riot.

Gov. Rockefeller and the legislature's leaders agreed Monday to draw $3 million to restore Attica; $800,000 to buy additional security equipment for 14 state penal institutions and $200,000 for interim expenses of the Attica investigations.

There were these other developments in the probe of the riots that claimed 42 lives, 32 inmates and 10 prison employees: — State prison guards met with corrections officials at 15 state prisons in what a spokesman for the union representing the guards said was an effort to avoid a "lock in" if the Rockefeller administration refuses to agree to seven demands made by the union.

— In Buffalo, attorneys for the inmates subpoenaed three top state officials to appear at a federal court hearing and explain why they should not be barred from questioning inmates involved in the rebellion. A black community activist demanded that the FBI determine the identities of prisoners slain during the riots. Burials of two former inmates were delayed.

— State Sen. Samuel L. Greenberg, D-Brooklyn, criticized the promotion of a state police captain at Attica to chief of the investigation being performed by Robert E. Fischer, the state's supercop.

— The State Correctional Services Department said conditions at Attica were "beginning to show some semblance of normalcy."

— A report by the department on the Elmira Correctional Facility said "hardened" convicts transferred to the institution caused problems with younger inmates.

The money for repairs and other expenses was announced by Rockefeller following a meeting in New York City with Lt. Gov. Malcolm Wilson, Atty. Gen. Louis J. Lefkowitz, Republican legislative leaders Earl W. Brydges and Perry Duryea and Democratic legislative leaders Joseph Zaretski and Stanley Steingut.

A spokesman for Security Unit Employees Council 82, American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees AFL-CIO, said reports from the various local prison guards' union representatives would be evaluated before further action.

He said the decision would be made by delegates to a state convention at Albany Wednesday through Friday, following another meeting with Governor Rockefeller's staff.

A spokesman for Corrections Commissioner Russell G. Oswald said the department would probably make no comment "until all these reports are analyzed."

In Anaheim, Calif., Agnew said in a speech prepared for the International Association of Police Chiefs that the issue at Attica was not prison reform.

"Now the name Attica joins the list of geographic places and names and slogans whose very utterance in the litany of anti-American hate preached by radical propagandists is a dagger at the heart of our country's free institutions," he said.

In Albany, Sen. Greenberg attacked the appointment of Capt. Henry Williams to head the Special Investigations Unit of state police.

Williams, formerly stationed at Batavia, was one of the top strategists as state troopers restored order Sept. 9 and stormed the facility Sept. 13.

Although the SIU does the "leg work" investigating organized crime for supercop Robert Fischer, a spokesman for Fischer would say only that Williams was "involved" in the Attica investigation undertaken at the governor's request.

State police spokesmen said Williams' appointment had been "all set for months," and it was "pure coincidence" it was made public after Attica.

Counterpunch Looms From Monetary Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — The possibility of an economic counterpunch to the United States' 10-per-cent import surcharge and its refusal to devalue the dollar has emerged at the annual International Monetary Fund meeting.

But whether the punch will actually be thrown, pulled or landed only lightly remains unsettled.

The indication of possible countermeasures came when West German Finance Minister Karl Schiller told Treasury Secretary John B. Connally that West Germany "may be compelled to come to a painful reappraisal of the economic and currency policy we have been pursuing."

Schiller told newsmen later of dollars into West Germany not thinking of full-scale economic retaliation against the United States.

He said West Germany will "compel German firms that borrow outside the country to depose part of their borrowing with the West German bank. Another German official said the easing of domestic credit man Finance minister. "I have conditions also will be considered, another measure to dis-

While Schiller talked of a "painful reappraisal," he announced a move that appeared designed to discourage the flow of dollars into West Germany and keep the value of the German mark from rising in relation to the dollar.

Republicans List Dinner Speaker

KINGSTON publican will be with us," he said.

Guest speaker for the annual Ulster County Republican dinner to be held Sunday at the Granit Hotel, Accord, will be Congressman Silvio Conte, of Massachusetts' First District, according to an announcement made today by Peter J. Savago, dinner chairman.

"We are most fortunate to have Congressman Conte as our main speaker, and are honored that this nationally known Republican will be with us," he said.

"Congressman Conte is a native of Massachusetts, educated in Pittsfield schools and a graduate of Boston College and Boston Law School.

During World War II, he served with the Seabees in the Southwest Pacific Theatre and is a disabled veteran. He practiced law in Berkshire County from 1950 to 1958, and in 1950, at the age of 29 was elected to the Massachusetts State Senate. He was first elected to Congress in 1968, and is now serving his seventh consecutive term. In Congress he serves as seventh ranking minority member on the powerful House Appropriations Committee and the Select Committee on Small Business. He is also a member of the Transportation and Labor - HEW Subcommittees. Conte is a member of the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission and the Joint Commission on Coinage.

The Congressman is married to the former Corinne Duval and is the father of four children. He makes his home in Pittsfield.

During his distinguished career, he has been the recipient of many outstanding awards. Among them honorary doctor of laws degree from Williams and Hampshire Colleges, Catholic Layman of the Year by the Knights of Columbus, outstanding young man of the year by the Massachusetts Jaycees, "Commendatore" by the Republic of Italy, lifetime AMVETS membership, several environmental awards including recognition by the Sierra Club, Berkshire Ebony Club Award, B'nai B'rith National civic award and several meritorious service awards from postal employee associations.

Congressman Conte is a member of the Massachusetts, Berkshire and Federal Bar Associations, Kiwanis, NAACP, Knights of Columbus, American Legion, Hillcrest Hospital Board of Directors, Vice Chairman of phoning GOP headquarters in Kingston.

ONE DAY ONLY SEPT. 29th

$9.99 PER $1500 ASSESSMENT

For a $200,000 Recreation Area. DO YOU BELIEVE THIS??? WE DON'T!!!!

AND HERE IS WHY . . .

- 1) NOBODY can make an accurate prediction of this kind.
- 2) Is this figure guaranteed by the Town Board or any member thereof???? Of course not!!!!
- 3) Our figures indicate the following facts:
  - a) In order to pay back $200,000 in 5 years with interest, the cost would be approx. $46,000 per year.
  - b) This ONE ITEM would be approx. 14% of last years total town budget.
  - c) Increase last year's general tax bill by 14% and see what that amounts to!!!!
  - d) The interest alone will cost more than the entire West Shokan facility.
  - e) It will follow THEIR arithmetic and "facts" we could have a first class ambulance service (among other things) for only pennies per taxpayer.
- 4) They ask the question: "Would this low cost improvement benefit the town? The question should be "Will this high cost improvement benefit a select few?"

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 28, 1971

WASHINGTON—In a hush-hush report on the Interior Department's publicity operations, a Madison Avenue huckster has recommended that the department should blow its own horn louder, should play up its "photogenic" boss, Rogers C. B. Morton, and should hide the extra expense "in other budgets."

Shortly after Morton took over as Interior Secretary, he hired Harry Treleven, the ad executive who directed the theatrics for President Nixon's 1968 campaign, to analyze the department's information programs. Treleven submitted an 85-page report, which has been kept under heavy wraps. In other words, the department has refused to give the public any information about Treleven's study of its public information activities. A bootleg copy, however, has been smuggled to us.

"Almost the entire press operation," criticized Treleven, "is too passive, reacting to events rather than looking for opportunities..." The bureau has the capability to get (information) out—but they need to be stimulated by a more Gung Ho attitude at the top.

"Another problem is that most of the senior people are print-oriented. They don't know what to do about it, either. A top priority must be to develop ways of getting Interior's story on television."

Morton's Visual Appeal. Treleven suggested the Secretary had considerable television appeal that should be exploited. The husky handsome, six-foot-seven-inch Morton has the shaggy look of a country squire. Treleven, therefore, urged more effort "to get the Secretary visually involved in newsworthy events..."

"Secretary Morton is not only the most photogenic member of the Administration but he's also able to participate physically in all kinds of outdoor situations and look natural."

Treleven urged "a nationwide 'network' of specially trained and briefed information personnel be established" to ballyhoo Morton's appearances on the road.

The Madison Avenue expert, who was paid $121 a day for his analysis, also had some suggestions about financing an invigorated publicity campaign. He estimated that the department's total information program costs "close to four million dollars."

President Nixon, however, has ordered a government-wide cutback in information activities. So Treleven suggested slyly: "It (is) impossible to cut the kind of items that occasioned the request for a reduction because they don't exist. The response, therefore, is to eliminate worthwhile items, or go 'underground'—i.e., hide expenditures in other budgets. The latter is probably the practical way out."

Corporate aid. He had another novel idea. "Some of the bureaus (Mines, Outdoor Recreation, and Fish & Wildlife) have been able to obtain private funds for their film programs," he wrote, referring to corporate promotional films. "This is a source of money which should be sought energetically and systematically by the entire department."

Treleven noted, in passing, that the high casualty rate in Interior Secretaries had raised a budget question. He pointed out: "Secretary Udall's name is still on many booklets—Secretary Hickel lives on in print—and many offices are faced with trying to decide whether they should spend the money to update them with Secretary Morton's name or not."

But Treleven's main emphasis was that the publicity operations should be coordinated and controlled. "Each office," he wrote, "tries to be a total, self-contained and self-sufficient communications operation. What they end up being, however, are small pockets of personnel... with no place to go for professional assistance and no one to tell them whether or not they're on the right track."

Footnote: Having told the Interior Department what's wrong with its publicity, Treleven offered his public relations talents to set it right. He used his position as a government consultant to drum up business for his newly reorganized firm of Allison, Treleven and Riets.

Intelligence Items. Like the Central Intelligence Agency, we rate intelligence reports for reliability. The source is given in alphabetical appraisal, the content a numerical rating. An A-1 report, therefore, would be considered wholly accurate.

Chinese Goal (B-2)—Sources close to the Red Chinese quote them as saying their aim is to oust Chiang Kai-shek from the United Nations more than to gain membership for themselves. They reportedly have said they are prepared to wait 5,000 years, if necessary, for UN membership.

Israeli Withdrawal? (A-2)—Moshe Dayan, the tough Israeli defense minister, is pressing inside the cabinet for a withdrawal of Israeli troops back from the banks of the Suez Canal. Dayan's reasoning: The Soviet objective is to reopen the Suez Canal; therefore, Russia can be expected to increase military pressure on Israel until the Canal is opened.

Nuclear Threat (B-3)—Intelligence sources assert fissionable material is being smuggled in tiny amounts into the Middle East. Any industrial nation, they say, can now manufacture a nuclear bomb in less than a month.

Guerrilla Converts (A-1)—The harsh behavior of South Vietnamese troops in Cambodia is turning thousands of Cambodians into communist guerrillas. Several captured Cambodian guerrillas have said they joined the communists because of the South Vietnamese looting and raping.

Profits and Jobs

WASHINGTON — President Nixon gave some significant answers to the questions asked him at the Economic Club in Detroit last Thursday night, which were transmitted across the nation by radio. It differed from a press conference in that the interrogation was conducted by a panel of ten, including economists and an official of the Steelworkers Union in Michigan. One local television station broadcast the 45-minute interview. The millions who listened on the radio, heard an unusual question-and-answer discussion of the wage-price freeze. Naturally, a text of this length couldn't be transcribed in time for most morning newspapers.

Some of the quotations are still worth careful examination. At the outset, Mr. Nixon disclosed there is no time limit set for the period of phase two of the wage-price freeze. He said this was because he believes the "duration should depend on how effectively it deals with the problem." But he declared that "our commitment is to return to the free-market forces as the most effective way to move this economy forward." While expecting support from the people, the President asserted that "it is also essential that there be government sanctions to back it up—and there will be."

Mr. Nixon pointed out that control of prices and costs automatically affects profits and that "one dollar out of every two in corporate profits goes to the government." He added: "It is only through profits that industry can buy the new plant, the new equipment that will make our workers more productive and therefore more competitive in the world. And so, putting it bluntly, let me say: I am for profits, because I believe that more profits means more jobs, and at this particular time we need more jobs."

The 10 per cent surcharge on imports come in for inquiry about its permanence. The President replied: "A permanent wall of tariff barriers and of quotas around the United States would be good short-term policy and disastrous long-term policy. It would be bad for the producers of this country because we wouldn't be competitive. The United States producer simply wants an equal shot, an equal chance. Now, insofar as removing that surcharge is concerned, we are not going to be belligerent. We are not trying to declare war on the other great trading nations..."

"That means that we need a new approach to the problem of exchange rates. We need a new system; the other one was crisis-prone. And that is one of the reasons why the surcharge will not be removed until we get action on that front."

"It means also that we need to reduce some of those impediments—artificial barriers to American goods abroad. All that we want there is fair and free trade for our goods, just as we hope we can provide fair and free trade for theirs."

The President said that, finally, the basic point is whether American producers can compete without some subsidy. He noted that abroad a workman has an advantage sometimes because his government subsidizes him. More study on this apparently is to be made by the administration.

Mr. Nixon spoke out frankly on the subject of the race problem in housing. First, he noted that equal opportunities for employment in business had been supported by him and his associates. Then he said:

"Now when you go to may-be suggesting that we should use the power of the federal government to force so-called integrated housing, I would respectfully suggest that that kind of program would not be workable and it is not one that I think can be justified. We will not, of course, subsidize through the federal government, and do not, housing that is segregated. But, on the other hand, to go to the other extreme and to use the power of the government to change them forcibly—other than to have those patterns change on a voluntary basis by having an open housing program in which any individual who has the opportunity can move where he wants—we believe that this kind of an approach, of a forced housing policy, is one that will not work."

There were questions on other subjects such as the administration's policy on interest rates, welfare problems of the cities, and the reduction of American troops abroad so as to curtail expense. A query as to how long the government's budget can remain out of balance was answered by Mr. Nixon with the simple declaration that the goal "is to get this economy back to full capacity without war, to have full employment, and when we have that we can have a balanced budget in a conventional sense."

Freeman Editorials

Britain's Economy

Britain's economy was slumping. Inflation was rampant. Prime Minister Edward Heath and his advisors had stood firm. Pressure finally moved them to action. Anthony Barber, Chancellor of the Exchequer, took a gamble. Its effectiveness may influence the Nixon administration to wait no longer to introduce similar stimulants.

Barber cut taxes by $564 million a year, increased investment incentives and eliminated all consumer credit controls to get the economy moving. Most importantly, in our judgment, Barber sought what amounted to voluntary restraints on prices and wages from industry and labor. The response was significant.

The whole package marked a big shift in the Conservative government's economic policy. Until this move, as in this country, Heath had been cool to the idea of wage-price restraint by overall agreement. He preferred to fight against large individual wage claims.

Big business promised, following announcement of the new voluntary restraints, to hold price increases to five per cent during the next year. They rose to 10 per cent last year. Unions welcomed the tax cuts and indicated they might be more restrained in their wage demands, though agreement to any formal wage policy seemed less likely.

At least, a start has been made. Britain's medicine for economic recovery will be watched here with interest born of similar symptoms.

Blacks Go South

The activities of the black militants hide the growing movement that is taking blacks back to the South in greater and greater numbers.

"Everybody I know between the ages of 30 and 45 is moving back South," said James Meredith, when he moved from New York to Jackson, Miss., the other day. The first black student at the University of Mississippi in 1962 needed bodyguards on campus. Today, he walks freely about his business in the capital of the same state. The decade has made a lot of difference.

In Memphis, the Urban League reports that 70 per cent of the blacks coming to them to find jobs have moved in from outside the South, from Chicago, and Cleveland, and Gary, and some from California.

"The Newark, the Detroit, the Watts are all clear indicators to a number of black people that all is not coming up roses for them in the big metropolitan areas," says Herman Ewing, executive director of the Urban League in Memphis.

Young men and women who grew up in the South, and prepared in school and college and went North seeking opportunity, are among the first to swarm back South. They are finding that professionals are welcome there now. It wasn't like that even a few years ago.

As more factories move to the South, opportunities for the unskilled as well as the skilled black people look brighter. Few pretend that all color barriers are down.

After working hours, Memphis still is an extremely segregated city. On the plus side, the newcomers find they can drive their cars to work, leave their apartments with less fear of burglary and breathe a fresher air in the downtown area, than in some cities away from the South.

People are groping to understand each other. That is getting them places.

LINDSAY'S ETHNIC CORPS—New York Mayor John V. Lindsay is seeking federal funds to hire specially trained minority group members as firemen, policemen and sanitation workers for duty in three slum areas of the city. They would form good bases for political work in the slums, too, Lindsay no doubt thinks.

BERRY'S WORLD

"YOU, WITH THE BUBBLE GUM—GET IN THERE, AND... Oh, forget it!"

Politicos attacking President Nixon's new programs demand limits on profits. But they're simply playing on the public's ignorance. We should omit any applause for them and hope that Congress has brains enough to avoid their wreckage.

They ignore the risks for profits. Yet profits and risks are as inseparable as the Siamese twins. Without one you cannot have the other. And risk for profits is the key to job-giving.

The risk, with the losses that can accompany it, has made our progress possible. For we live not only in a profit system but a loss system, and it is pure hokus, hokus, hokus to ignore how ghastly the losses can be.

This is the same old political rascallion with just another ring around its tail. For example, look at the great minerals-producing Anaconda Company, which recently omitted its dividend. Anaconda's Montana copper and zinc mines were shut for months by a strike that began July 1. Its Arizona operations were struck throughout August. The unrelated railroad and smelter strikes and the continuing West Coast longshoremen's strike have added their own lethal blows. And, in that strike-risk, who knows when all these strikes will be settled?

Abroad, Anaconda has risked for profit an immense copper mines development in Chile. The Chilean government guaranteed that Anaconda's investment would not be expropriated. On July 16 it was expropriated. The profits vanished, and Anaconda's properties have gone as well.

Mining silver for profits took Anaconda into Mexico. The company risked more than $80 million. But on August 27 the risk turned into a colossal loss.

"Mexicanization" under today's Mexican government of President Luis Echeverria

Alvarez has forced Anaconda to sell out for $48 million. Says Secretary for National Properties Horacio Flores de la Pena: "Mexicanization" has come of age." Well, its coming has spelled death to Anaconda's $80 million risk for profits.

Meanwhile, you might notice that on September 17 RCA wrote off its risk in the computer field: a $250 million loss.

Domestic and foreign oil exploration costs have gone up 800 per cent since before the war, and these are a shouting example of the risks required for profits. They involve more than $1 million a day. In fact, one American company is forced to find (or fail to find) two million barrels daily even to keep up with its sales. And no man alive knows whether the risk will pay off in profits.

Reduce this to Broadway: the same thing. Today you must risk twice as much as in 1954 to produce and run a Broadway play. Without this risk, hoping for a profitable hit, plays and movies alike would have to disappear.

The United States Steel Company must risk $1.35 in investment to create $1 in job-giving sales. But it has nevertheless lost out to a Japanese firm as the world's largest steel producer and has not cut its dividend.

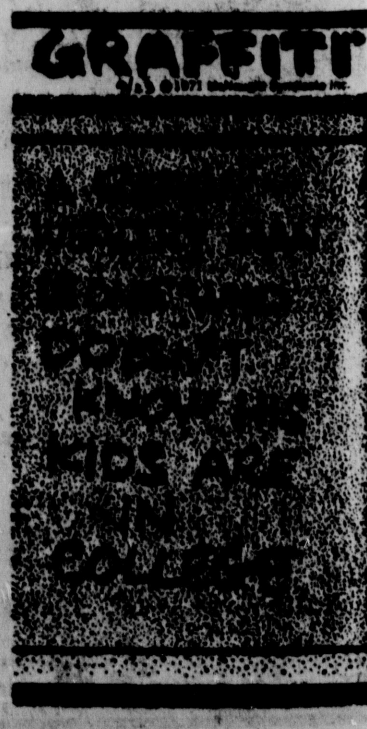

The risk for profit extends, of course, to America's stock owners. When you buy a stock you must buy the uncertainties and risks that go with it. Blue-chip U.S. Steel's stock is in the low 30s, down from 108.

Even today an estimated 100 million Americans never have flown on an airplane. How many airlines would we have if these carriers did not take tremendous risks—and an aggregate $124.5 million loss in first half this year—hoping to fly people at a profit?

Our pharmaceutical firms risk billions on research each year. Without the risk we'd produce no new pharmaceuticals. But profit-winners are rare. And with these few comes the advertising risk that can collapse the profits like a pricked balloon.

An automobile company must risk hundreds of millions each year on new models, hoping to keep abreast of competition and make a profit. However, will the new models sell? Or will one or more be another Edsel? The Ford Motor Company's Edsel debacle—no sales—cost Ford something like $150 million. Subsequently Ford sold 50,000 more of its hot Mustang model in the first four months than it sold Edsels in 2 years, and so it goes.

The heavy ball of progress needs a great deal of pushing. The push originates in the risk for profits. The politico's appeal to limit profits while not limiting losses (obviously impossible) is sheer, outright demagoguery.

Fish Withholds Bill On Vehicle Excise Tax

WASHINGTON — Rep. Hamilton Fish Jr. today said that he had decided to withhold introduction of a bill calling for extension of excise tax repeal to light farm vehicles pending full study of the tax bill implementing President Nixon's new economic policy reported from the Ways and Means Committee last Thursday.

Paper Drive In Marbletown

MARBLETOWN — Town of Marbletown is conducting a paper and magazine collection drive all this week, ending Sunday.

Fish, who represents the largest agricultural district in New York State, said he had been preparing legislation to extend excise tax repeal to farm vehicles as the President had only called upon the Congress to repeal the tax on passenger automobiles.

"I sincerely believe that the excise tax repeal should be extended to this class of vehicle, as not only is the farm truck a vital part of a farmer's operation, but also serves as the basic means of transportation for many farmers," Congressman Fish said.

Congressman Fish said he was withholding introduction of legislation aimed at exempting these vehicles pending full study of the bill reported from Ways and Means as, "I believe the Ways and Means bill has so broadened the exemptions as to include this class of vehicle."

Congressman Fish said that any effort to stimulate the economy must also be aimed at reviving the heart of the nation's economy—agriculture.

Oil Spill

WEAVERVILLE, Calif. (UPI)—A 3,000-gallon oil spill from a runaway tank truck has killed an estimated 1,000 rainbow trout, the State Fish and Game Department reported Monday.

The department said the oil has polluted Rattlesnake Creek in northern California after the truck, which was parked on a hill, started rolling and plummeted into the creek. The driver was not in the vehicle.

PROFESSOR ARMSTRONG — Neil Armstrong, the first man on the moon, steps from his office on the University of Cincinnati campus for his first day as a professor. The former astronaut has forsaken a career in industry for the university life where he will be an instructor in the engineering department at U.C. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

Six Persons Killed

ATLANTA, Tex. (UPI)—W. C. Stack was sitting in his office Monday, working on financial papers. About 100 yards away, one million gallons of water was being pumped into a nine-story tall, rust-colored steel tank.

"I heard a loud roaring sound and then a crunch," Stack said today. "I couldn't imagine what it was."

Stack tore through the front door of his office and stared at where the water tank once stood. All that was left was a jumbled mass of steel plates and rushing water.

"I was shocked," Stack said. "This is something that just doesn't happen. It's like watching the Rock of Gibraltar crumble."

The tank—97½ feet high and 50 feet in diameter—burst like an overblown balloon Monday, sending the million gallons of water, concrete and steel plates cascading down on men working in a pit below.

"I knew the foundation was being poured for another tank right next to the collapsed one," Stack said. "All I could think of was I wonder how many men it took with it."

Six persons died in the adjacent pit and 12 others were injured.

"I've been working for this company for 22 years since I graduated from college and nothing like this has happened before," Stack, 44, said from his home in nearby Texarkana in the northeast corner of the state. "There's just no explanation for it."

"If somebody had told me you have a year to think of ways men could get hurt or killed, this would have been one of the last things I would have thought of—if I'd have thought of it at all."

The giant tank was at a mill under construction for the International Paper Co. Stack worked for Harold Clements, Inc., the construction firm building the plant. Five of the victims also worked for the construction firm, the sixth was an employee of the paper company.

Herman Moore, a spokesman for the paper company who flew from Mobile, Ala., to answer questions about the tragedy, said the tank was being tested for leaks when it burst.

"We tested another tank just like it a couple of weeks ago and there was no trouble at all," Moore said. "This thing just collapsed and no one knows why."

Short Circuit Causes Alarm

KINGSTON — Eight fire department units responded to an alarm at 7:21 a. m. after fire was reported at the Ulster County Infirmary Annex at Golden Hill.

On arrival firemen found a short-circuit in an electric light fixture caused the alarm. A spokesman at the annex said there was no damage. Deputy Chief Harry Sills was in charge of men from Engine Companies 1 and 2, Truck 1 and 2, Engine 2, Cornell, and Wicks Salvage, Excelsior and Wiltwyck volunteers.

The all clear was sounded at 7:56 a. m. and all units reported back in service at 8:20 a. m.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of my mother, Gertrude Vincent, who passed away one year ago, Sept. 27, 1970. Every memory of you mother. Thoughts of you that mean so much.

These are things we'll always treasure. Things that time can never touch.

Daughter, EDNA
Son-in-law, RAYMOND

Memoriam

In loving memory of August P. Gromoll, who passed away four years ago, September 28, God took him home, it was His will.

But in our hearts we love him still.

His memory is as dear today. As in the hour he passed away. We often sit and think of him. When we are all alone.

For memory is the only friend. For memory is all that's left. WIFE, CHILDREN and GRANDCHILDREN

A GREAT BUY IS ONLY A GREAT BUY IF YOU CAN BUY IT.

A good deal isn't going to wait for you to get the money. So we've created a checking account that lets you borrow simply by writing a check.

It's called Line of Credit. Our way of lending you up to $5,000 anytime, anyplace.

With a Line of Credit checkbook, you can write yourself a loan whenever you need extra money. So if you come across an opportunity that won't wait, you won't have to wait. Just write a check.

You don't have to worry about filling out a new application every time you use it. And you don't have to worry about getting in over your head, either. We won't let you do that.

Every month we'll send you a statement showing just how much you've borrowed. You can pay it back all at once or just a little at a time. Naturally, you only pay interest on what you borrow.

We think money should be there when you need it. After all, a great buy isn't a great buy if you don't buy it.

TEEN AGE EATING— ARE YOU WITH IT?

Do you who are parents of teen-agers get up tight about teen-age eating habits? If so, you have a lot of company. And there are some bases of genuine concern for the nutritional status of teen-agers, girls especially.

But, rather than forcing or nagging about nutrition, why not try fitting nutrition into your teen-agers' way of life.

For example, while those of us over 30 may be horrified by it - there is nothing wrong nutritionally speaking, with a hot dog, a hamburger, or a peanut butter sandwich for breakfast, with a glass of milk and a piece of fruit.

Nutrition and the key nutrients relate directly to many teen-agers interests and concerns. For example, most teen-agers these days are active or want to be active in school, social activities, and community projects. Activities require energy; energy requires the right fuel; the foods with the key nutrients provide the right fuel.

The clear skin, shiny hair, good teeth and slim figure that most teen-age girls want require the right diet that includes the key nutrients. For example Vitamin A is a key nutrient for healthy skin. Dark green and yellow vegetables are rich in Vitamin A.

The strong bodies, muscular development and these days the luxuriant hair that many teen-age boys want are difficult to have with out a diet that includes the key nutrients.

Why not post the key nutrients somewhere in your kitchen, along with the four food groups and let your teen-agers plan meals and check them against the lists? They may surprise you with some new and nutritionally "good" meals.

If you have any comments or questions, please feel free to write to me.

That's right - "GRAND UNION" joins the ranks of "THE NINETY NINER CLUB!"

Little did "CYRUS D. JONES" founder of the GRAND UNION COMPANY know when he was busy delivering tea from house to house in Scranton, Pa., back in 1872 - that his little company would grow and flourish into one of the nation's most outstanding food chains (10th. largest in the Nation).

The key to Cyrus's success was the respect and loyalty he had gained from his customers for his service and quality of product and reasonable price that he had asked . . . that same respect and loyalty from literally millions of food shoppers has become a hallmark in Grand Union's fine history of service and fine quality, at the lowest possible price.

So why not - join us and save for this week and next and see the "NINETY NINERS" in action . . . You'll be glad you did.

MRS. VICTOR RICKETSON
(Lakeside Studio)

Reese - Ricketson Wedding Announced

Miss Joyce Lillian Reese, daughter of Mrs. Lillian Reese, 48 Abbey Street, Kingston, and Fred Reese of Latham, became the bride of Victor Ricketson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ricketson of RFD 4, Kingston, on Sunday, Sept. 19 at St. Joseph's Church, Kingston.

The Rev. Alfred Pizzuto officiated at the double ring ceremony. Traditional wedding selections were provided. White gladioli decorated the altar and white satin bows marked the family pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride selected a brocade, lily of the valley gown styled in the A-line fashion with an empire waistline and puffed sleeves trimmed with lace and rhinestones. Her bridal headpiece held a cathedral length mantilla with blusher which was bordered with Chantilly-type lace. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with pink roses.

Joan Ricketson, sister of the bridegroom, Kingston, was maid of honor in an orchid colored gown fashioned with an A-line skirt, empire waistline, puffed sleeves and wide velvet sash of deep purple. A bow with matching tulle net served as her headpiece and she carried a nosegay of pink roses, purple carnations and baby's breath.

Sandra Rodden of Esopus and Mrs. Henry Slattery of Kingston were attendants in rose colored gowns and headpieces similar in styling to that worn by the honor attendant. They carried nosegays of pink roses and baby's breath.

Randall Reese, brother of the bride, Kingston, was best man. Ushering were Henry Slattery and George Albright, cousin of the bridegroom, both of Kingston.

A reception for 85 guests was held at Elmer's Inn in Ruby.

The bride is a 1971 graduate of Kingston High School. Her husband, an alumnus of KHS, class of 1966, served three years with the U.S. Army Engineers, 10 months of which was spent in Vietnam. He is employed by Ulster County Highway Department.

MR. AND MRS. HERBERT DICKERSON, of 77 Clinton Avenue, Kingston, celebrated their Silver wedding anniversary Saturday, September 18 at a party given in their honor. Married Sept. 22, 1946 by the late Rev. Joseph D. Gorman at the Church of the Holy Name of Jesus, 11 Fitch Street, their attendants were Mrs. Concetta Fasano and James Dickerson. Mr. and Mrs. Dickerson have four children: Sgt. John Dickerson of the U. S. Air Force, stationed at Pease, N. H., and married to the former Joanne Schuh; Mrs. Dennis (Karen) Leone; Miss Patricia Dickerson; and Richard Dickerson. They also have a grandchild, Dennis Dean Leone. Mr. Dickerson is employed as a painter for Local 255. Mrs. Dickerson is a student in the Board of Cooperative Educational Services Program for Licensed Practical Nursing and is employed by Kingston Hospital. She is the former Angela Badalamenti. Many relatives and friends were in attendance and numerous gifts were received. (Freeman photo by Kruh).

Parents Wealth Is Cause For Broken Engagement

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

© 1971 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

really loved John, and John really loved Mary, they would have told Father to keep his money, and have walked off into the sunset (panting but penniless) together.

DEAR ABBY: A man wrote to you saying that the happily married, he was still hooked on prostitutes. You said he needed a head doctor. Then a Birmingham, Ala., reader offered a better suggestion: "Why not give your wife the usual fee? Then you will both be happy," he wrote.

Having had somewhat the same problem myself, I pinned two one-dollar bills to my wife's pillowcase with a note, "Thanks for the wonderful time."

That evening I found a dollar bill on my dinner plate with the following note from her: "I never charge anyone else more than a dollar."

BILL IN NAPLES, FLA.

DEAR ABBY: Is a good old fashioned spanking ever justified? My eight-year-old son broke a neighbor's window and I told him if he ever damaged a neighbor's property again I would give him the spanking of his life. I am divorced from my husband and therefore must do all the disciplining.

I might also suggest that this pastor and his wife set an unbreakable early bedtime. He will find that their lovemaking will improve 100 percent when neither one is exhausted.

I recommend that this pastor give his wife the chance a new wife would demand. How about starting with the time the other woman now takes in his office?

Benedictine Millennium Is Social Highlight

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Everyone kept insisting it would have been madness to miss this year's Benedictine Hospital Millennium. And they were right. From all reports the second annual fund raising dinner-dance given by the Benedictine Board of Directors, Advisory Board and Auxiliary proved to be one of the social highlights of the early fall-winter season.

Guests were received at a cocktail party featuring the finest of gourmet selections and dinner, served at 7 p.m., was the Hotel Granit's special Prime Ribs.

Even though invitations read "dress optional," traditional evening gowns won out over hot pants ensembles and coulotte-type floor length fashions. Some men chose to wear the acceptable dark business suits but formal attire was very much on the scene leaving little doubt that folks in Ulster County still approve and favor a chance to indulge themselves in a more gracious way of living.

Millennium guests also enjoy a concert by Paul Quarino, organist, and stage show featuring comedian Mickey Manners of Hogans Heroes, and Prentice Minner and Company, a show stopper feature from the Americana Hotel.

Harry Kapreilian was general chairman of the event. Mrs. John A. Olivet and Mrs. Charles J. Turck were in charge of reservations. Mrs. Mansoor Hakim, Auxiliary president, and Mrs. Edward Coppo served on the general committee with Mrs. Coppo as treasurer.

Also planning the event were Augustus Brinnier, Robert Yallum, Joe E. O'Connor, Jack E. Turk, Edward Cahill, James E. Norton, Lawrence Quilty, Mrs. J. L. Feltham and Paul DeLisio. Also Ellis Briggs and Clifford Henze.

Town chairmen in charge of reservations in Ulster and Dutchess counties included: Kingston, Mrs. Arthur Davis Jr., Mrs. Francis R. Koenig, Mrs. John L. Larkin, Mrs. Richard Dillon and Mrs. Augustus Brinnier.

In Saugerties: Mrs. Anthony Vicevich and Mrs. Maurice Patenaude; Rosendale, Mrs. Francis X. Tucker, Mrs. Peter Matthews and Mrs. James Duncan; Marbletown, Mrs. Richard Davenport; New Paltz, Mrs. Howard Buck; Ellenville, Mrs. Robert Stapleton; Red Hook, Mrs. Joseph Graham; Woodstock, Mrs. William Carr and Mrs. Ronald O'Neil; Phoenicia, Mrs. Eugene Gormley.

A Wurlitzer organ valued at $2,200 and donated by Mr. Kapreilian was awarded to Mr. and Mrs. Edward Terwilliger during the festivities. Mrs. Terwilliger is an operating room nurse at the Benedictine.

AT THE GRANIT Sunday night for the Benedictine Hospital's Millennium Ball were (L-R) Robert Stapleton, president of the board of directors; Sister Mary Charles, hospital administrator; Harry Kapreilian, general chairman of the event; and Mrs. Elaine Siller, member of the hospital's advisory board. (Freeman photo by Haines).

AMONG THOSE ATTENDING the fund raising event were (L-R) John Nilsen, Mrs. Robert Stark, Mrs. Jonathan Wong, Mrs. Joseph J. Qualtere and Dr. Wong. Popular young organist, Paul Quarino, gave a special concert at the hotel that same evening. Prentice Minner, billed as another "Sinatra," who has played the Americana Hotel and other hotels here and abroad and whose credits include guest appearances on the David Frost Show, also performed. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Helpful Hints

Bristles of the vacuum cleaner should be cleaned occasionally. Use fingers and a coarse comb to work suds into bristles and draw out dirt and grime. Rinse carefully and allow to dry before using.

Let metal cake pans cool before placing them into hot suds. This prevents warping.

The rage for organic products goes further than food for the stomach. Many manufacturers have developed complete sink-care collections made of organic herbs. These products include cleansers, make-up removers, moisturizers and shampoos.

Organists Will Host President

NEW PALTZ

The Mid-Hudson Valley Chapter of the American Guild of Organist will host their newly-elected National President, Charles Dodsley Walker, F.A.G.O., at the Organist-Clergy Dinner to be held Monday, Oct. 11 at Reggie's Inn, New Paltz, 6:30 p.m. The program also will include a dialogue on the rock opera "Jesus Christ, Superstar" with Rev. H. Bruce Lederhaus and Neil Gould of St. James Episcopal Church, Hyde Park, participating.

Walker is very well known on the New York musical scene. He is presently the organist and choirmaster of the Church of the Heavenly Rest, New York City, and is the founder and conductor of the Canterbury Choral Society. Since 1961 he has been Director of Music at the Chapin School, and is also a faculty member of the School of Sacred Music, Union Theological Seminary, and New York University.

A graduate of Trinity College and Harvard University, he has studied with Dr. Norman Cooke-Jephcott, Clarence Watters, Walter Piston, Archibald T. Davison, and Tillman Merritt. From 1958-1968 he was the National Secretary of A.G.O., and prior to that held other posts at Guild headquarters.

Reservation forms must be returned by October 4th.

Hurley Board Sets Two-Night Curfew For Halloween

By TIM SCHUSTER

WEST HURLEY

A request was made by Chief Constable Philip J. Sinagra and approved by the Hurley Town Board Monday evening to establish a 9 p.m. Halloween curfew for two nights this year for children under 16 years of age.

It was noted that since Halloween is Sunday, the resolution should be effective for the preceding Saturday night.

Sinagra told the Town Board that a problem arose last year as Hurley had a 10 p.m. curfew and the surrounding towns had a 9 p.m. curfew. "We can't go through what we did last year," he said, citing large groups of youngsters roaming the town, especially in the Rolling Meadows area.

Sinagra also read a nine-month composite constable's report, pointing out an increase in business.

In other town business, a petition with 142 signatures of residents of the Lucas Avenue Extension area near Rolling Meadows was presented to the Board asking that the 55-mile-per-hour speed limit on Lucas Avenue Extension be reduced to "something reasonable."

Mr. Fisher, representing the residents, told the Board that there has been rapid growth in the area, children frequent the road, and there are now three large stores compounding the traffic problem.

Supervisor George Schroeder said the matter would be referred to the county legislature and the State Department of Transportation and the residents should be notified.

The Town Board OK'd a budget anticipation note for the general fund for $5,000 for four months to cover general expenses.

Schroeder said that there is only $11,000 left in the general fund, not enough to cover anticipated expenses.

A letter from the Public Service Commission was read explaining progress on a case concerning the Hurley Water Company's proposed rate changes.

It stated that the operation of a new schedule would be further suspended until March 28, 1972 instead of the anticipated September date because the matter had not yet been resolved. The company was directed to file a tariff schedule with the Commission.

The State Transportation Department notified the Town Board that the proposed "no parking" area on Route 28A, West Hurley would be studied and the town apprised of the results.

Schroeder called a special meeting for Wednesday to study appointments to the Real Property Review Board and to fill a vacancy on the Planning Board.

Ed Malloy was appointed chairman of the Zoning Board of Appeals by vote of its members, replacing Edward Davi.

Schroeder said he had filed a claim with the state for $3,333.52 for storm damage done Sept. 10, 11 from hurricane Doria. Monies are supposed to be available through a federal grant.

Name Acting Commissioners, Manager Sought in Ellenville

By WADE BURKHART

ELLENVILLE

Acting commissioners from among the members of the Ellenville Board of Trustees were appointed at Monday night's board meeting by Mayor Robert Dowling.

Dowling emphasized the commissioners were "acting," stressing Ellenville was still constituted under the village manager form of government. There has been active speculation in the village that the Democratic majority on the board, which forced the resignation of Village Manager Lawrence E. Eyres two weeks ago, would call for a referendum on returning the village to the mayor and commissioners form of government. Democratic Trustee David Kramer, a consistent Eyres critic and very active in the Democratic move to oust Eyres, said it was the intention of the board to hire a village manager to replace Eyres. Eyres's resignation is effective Oct. 29, but he is currently on vacation, and will remain so for the duration.

Dowling said the village had already received two applications for Eyres's job, and the village has yet to advertise the position. Howard Weiss was appointed acting coordinator, and will oversee the day to day running of the village.

Dowling said the commissioners will let the department run on as they are, and not interfere. Francis Brown, speaking from the floor, and apparently a skeptic, said, "Not much you won't."

The village has received the galley proofs of the codification of the village's laws and ordinances. Dowling said the board would have to hold a number of meetings on the codification. He told The Freeman, department heads, the attorney and village engineer, the police chief, and the village board would be at the meetings to revise the laws. He expected no public hearing for "several weeks"; he thought it would probably take more than one hearing on the issue.

The codification contains a sidewalk ordinance and a swimming pool ordinance, among others. The sidewalk ordinance is something lacking in Ellenville; the swimming pool ordinance is also lacking, and has run into stiff opposition when proposed in the past. Village Treasurer Joseph Galanduk gave his report, and said the village's overall financial position was "good", but it was spending money too fast. He counselled "belt-tightening."

A bid for a new fire truck for the Kimble Hose Company was approved for $56,000 to Mark Truck. Trustee Walter Grey said Mack was the only one to meet specifications.

A representative of the Imperial Truck Co. said he took exception to the statement, and asked his company be given a written list of the village's objections to the Imperial bid signed by a village official.

The board said he would get it, and Grey said the Imperial specifications looked as if "they hadn't spent two minutes on them, in my opinion." Grey said he would never accept an Imperial Bid with the sort of specifications presented on the first truck bid.

Meeting as the Ellenville Urban Renewal Agency, the board voted to readvertise the property on the corner of Main and Canal as the first step to selling the property. It is listed as Parcel No. 4, and will go for $34,000. The property contains 33,759 sq. ft. It will be finally disposed of by "negotiated sale." Dowling said two or three firms had expressed an interest in the land.

Free Dinner Scheduled By Rhinebeck Chamber

RHINEBECK

The Rhinebeck Chamber of Commerce will sponsor a free dinner at the Beekman Arms Monday evening for all businessmen, friends, neighbors and persons interested in what is going on in the community.

Program Chairman Robert Gross has arranged to have the following speakers, who will give a brief resume of what their particular interest is in Rhinebeck and what they are attempting to do to improve the community.

Mayor Peter F. Sipperley will represent the Village of Rhinebeck; Donald Dapson, president of Rhinebeck Savings Bank; Michael Fichera, president of the First National Bank of Rhinebeck; Mr. Watson, Continental Telephone Company; Sol Silver, Village Green Apartments; and Edward Dohrenwend, Pope Pius Campus, the former Cardinal Farley Military Academy.

These talks are anticipated to be from five to 10 minutes each, and questions may be asked afterward.

The meeting is being held to maintain and improve the entire business and aesthetic atmosphere of Rhinebeck, according to Chamber President Mrs. Helen Battistoni.

The Chamber has stated that it at all times "feels that the citizens of the community should have a better place in which to live and an opportunity to express their views and dissatisfaction about any existing elements."

A meeting was held a week ago, sponsored by the First National Bank, to spur involvement of the business community in giving Rhinebeck a visual facelift through advice and aid of Dutchess County Cooperative Extension.

Paltz By-Pass Is Protested By Residents

NEW PALTZ

Residents of the Cherry Hill section of New Paltz protested the proposed by-pass at Monday night's New Paltz Village Board meeting.

The by-pass would run from South Putt Corners Road to Route 32 South, and could help to alleviate some of the congestion on Main Street by funneling traffic that is college-bound away from the center of town.

The Cherry Hill residents, represented by Russell Abrams, said the effect on their area would be bad. They claimed land values would be depressed, the neighborhood would change, and the light-duty roads in the area would be injured.

They hoped the state would correct the situation without local officials having to take steps to do so. The board did not see much hope in banking on the state. Trustee John Logan said the village had a terrible traffic problem, and was seeking any way it could to alleviate it.

Constantine Manos appeared before the board to complain the sewer in front his house on Prospect Street was inadequate. He listed seven dates in the past two years when the sewer overflowed, and said he had sewage on his front lawn at some points. The board said it would possibly lay a larger line when the Fulton Street extension was done.

Logan called for resumption of meetings between the town and village to discuss the possibilities of having a joint police force. Thomas E. Nyquist, Democratic candidate for town supervisor, and Edward Ralph Kulseng, Democratic candidate for councilman, have made a similar request.

Trustee John Sherwig introduced a motion declaring war on traffic congestion. The motion, as adopted, called for a committee on traffic in the village, an invitation to the town to form a similar committee, and a joint committee of town and village on the question.

Two City Men Arrested On Gambling Charges

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Investigation by Kingston police of a gambling operation in the city resulted in the arrests of two men early Monday afternoon on charges of possession of gambling records second degree and promoting gambling second degree.

Taken into custody were Maceo Nash, 73, of 7 West Strand, and Theodore Robert Smith, 64, of 64 Van Buren Street, both of Kingston. Police said the two are accused of booking bets and dealing in policy numbers.

Nash and Smith were released in $100 cash bail each pending a hearing before Special City Judge George A. Beck on Thursday.

Rape Cases Are Dismissed Against Four

KINGSTON, N.Y. (UPI)—Four Highland men, indicted by the Grand Jury on charges of alleged rape, had their cases dismissed in County Court Friday afternoon.

Assistant District Attorney Joseph Traficanti moved to dismiss the cases on the basis of insufficient corroboration. Counsel for the four men, Frank Martucci joined in the motion which was granted by presiding Judge Raymond J. Mino.

Named in the complaint lodged by a Newburgh woman about a year ago were Rex Joy, George King, John Joy and George Vandemark, all of Highland.

Congressmen May Challenge U.N. Position

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Nearly three dozen congressmen want the United States to consider removing its support of the United Nations if the admission of Communist China brings the expulsion of Nationalist China.

The signatures of almost three dozen senators and house members were placed on a statement to that effect Monday. They planned to present the statement formally at a news conference today.

The statement was circulated by Reps. Floyd Spence, R-S.C., and Joe D. Waggoner Jr., D-La., and Sen. James L. Buckley, CR-N.Y.

It declares that Nationalist China must retain its membership in the U.N.

Signers Monday included Rep. Mario Biaggi, D-N.Y.

Justice Black Services Today

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Funeral services were scheduled today at the huge Washington Cathedral for former Supreme Court Justice Hugo L. Black, 85, who died Saturday.

The cathedral, a massive gothic structure on the outskirts of Washington, was selected because it will accommodate the large number of persons expected to attend last rites for the Supreme Court's greatest exponent of free speech.

Burial was planned at Arlington National Cemetery, just inside Memorial Gate, the entrance visible across the Potomac River from the Lincoln Memorial. The site is about 10 minutes walk from the grave of President John F. Kennedy.

Newburgh Native Named to $33,325 SUNY Job

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI)—A SUNY Chancellor Ernest L. Boyer.

Charles W. Ingler, a public relations officer with the National Cash Register Co., was appointed associate chancellor for policy and planning at a salary of $36,550 a year.

Dr. Clifton C. Thorne, vice president for student affairs at the State University at Albany since 1965, was named vice chancellor for university affairs at a salary of $33,325 a year.

Boyer said that although two executive positions were created, the contemplated changes in administration would eventually result in an attrition reduction of 40 positions and a cut in the proposed 1972-73 central administration budget of $750,000.

The chancellor said the changes were made to achieve five basic organization objectives:

- Strengthen university-wide policy and planning.
- Improve management and fiscal evaluation.
- Strengthen community relations and improve public accountability.
- Transfer to the campuses educational programs now operated by central administration.
- Delegate greater responsibility for day-to-day operations to the campuses.

Thorne, a native of Newburgh, received his bachelor and master's degrees from Albany and his doctorate from Columbia University. A veteran of World War II, he joined the Albany staff in 1952 as an associate professor of business, being named vice president for He subsequently served as director of graduate studies, dean of men, director of the School of Freshman Studies and dean of the University College before student affairs. He lives in suburban Delmar.

Ingler, a native of Springfield, Mo., holds a bachelor's and master's degree from Oklahoma University and taught at the University of Arkansas and Northwestern University before joining National Cash Register in 1961. He was a consultant to the state Division of the Budget in 1969 and devised the "Ingler" formula which established payment of state aid for community colleges.

Referendum Is Defeated in Tillson

TILLSON, N.Y. (UPI)—Voters of the Tillson Fire District in the Town of Rosendale defeated at public referendum an attempt by the Fire District to purchase a new tank truck for use in the Tillson area.

The referendum, held Monday night at the Tillson Firehouse, saw 114 residents vote no on the referendum, to 82 in favor of it.

According to Ernest Hopper, a fire commissioner in the district, many voters felt that the purchasing of a new vehicle would raise fire district taxes.

"These people are mistaken," said Hopper. "We have just paid off a truck and, by purchasing one at this time, we could keep the tax rates the same. I'm not sure what we, the board and the rest of the department, will do now."

The truck, a tanker, would have replaced one purchased and put into use in 1953.

"We have no hydrants in our district," stated Hopper. "Therefore, we must supply our own water at fires. If something happens to the old truck, I

Alston Looking for Sweep With Astros

By KEN RAPPOPORT
Associated Press Sports Writer
Winning the National League West pennant can be as easy as 1-2-3 for the Los Angeles Dodgers.

Dodgers will have to do as they start their season-ending series with the Houston Astros tonight.

Of course, it's not necessary that the Dodgers win all three. The Giants, who hold a one-game lead, begin a three-game set with the last-place San Diego Padres and a lot depends on what they do. The Giants hold an 11-4 advantage in their season series.

"We are one game behind with three to play so it's quite simple," says Los Angeles first baseman Wes Parker. "The Giants will have to lose at least one game—and beyond that, we're absolutely helpless to do anything."

In Monday night's action, only one game was played as the St. Louis Cardinals defeated the New York Mets 6-1 in 10 innings. Pinch-hitter Matty Alou snapped a 1-1 tie with a two-run double as the Cardinals scored five runs in the 10th.

The Giants find themselves in this do-or-die position because of an inability to win the big ones in September. They lost 15 of 22 games, including eight straight meetings with the Dodgers, and let slip most of an 8½-game lead.

It hasn't been all the Giants' fault, though. In the same span, the hot Dodgers won 15 of 22—including those crucial eight against the Giants and five straight over another West toughie, the Atlanta Braves.

Bill Singer, the injury-plagued right-hander suffering through a disappointing 9-17 season, will start for the Dodgers against Houston rookie James Rodney Richards in the opener at Los Angeles.

The Dodgers deal their ace left-hander Al Downing against Houston's Don Wilson in the second game Wednesday night and come back with Don Sutton against either Wade Blasingame or Ken Forsch on Thursday.

Gaylord Perry is the Giants' choice tonight at San Diego. He'll face rookie Ed Acosta. San Francisco sends young Don Carriethers against the Padres' Clay Kirby Wednesday night and Juan Marichal will pitch the Giants' finale, dueling San Diego's star southpaw, Dave Roberts.

After "crawling in," as Heron put it, and receiving only a 26-yard punt from deep in its own territory, St. Louis permitted only Bobby Howfield's 23-yard field goal near start of the fourth quarter.

During a hot, feverish night in Busch Stadium, the Cardinals had built a 14-0 lead 4:48 into the second quarter on the hot hand of Beathard.

Selected to start just before the kickoff, the 29-year-old quarterback engineered drives of 88 and 80 yards resulting in touchdowns both culminated by Cid Edwards on one-yard plunges.

Beathard completed nine of 17 aeriels during the early assault, the barrage including one of 51 yards to fleet John Gilliam carrying to New York's six.

Beathard cooled down after the half to finish 11 for 23, but the aeriels consumed 222 yards compared to 151 yards on 16 of 28 by the Jets' tall Al Woodall.

Woodall, although on target, failed to drive the Jets across the goal until rookie Phil Wise's 41-yard kickoff return ignited a 53-yard push.

Guys Down Front Doomed the Jets

By PAUL LEBAR
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. LOUIS (AP) — All-pro Larry Wilson called it "rooting in" and tackle Fred Heron a "dive" as the St. Louis Cardinals held on to beat the New York Jets 17-10 in Monday night's second weekly National Football League television feature.

Boosted by an early surge, the Cardinals' biggest play came midway the third quarter while protecting a 17-7 edge.

New York had the ball inches from the goal line and Jets quarterback Al Woodall handed off to pile-driving John Riggins, who buried over center. But there he was suspended in mid-air, first by Wilson and later by right linebacker Rocky Rosema as the Cards held on and limited the Jets to a field goal the rest of the way.

"Give it to those guys down in front," said Wilson. "They went in and rooted the offensive line and pushed Riggins' jump line back a foot," Wilson added. "If he'd jumped from where the ball was, he'd have made it."

Heron's description of the Cardinals' "dive" was that aimed at center John Schmitt's legs. "Then we crawl in," he explained.

After "crawling in," as Heron put it, and receiving only a 26-yard punt from deep in its own territory, St. Louis permitted only Bobby Howfield's 23-yard field goal near start of the fourth quarter.

Falcons Impaled on Freeze

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — The Atlanta Falcons pro football team has been charged in a federal suit with violating President Nixon's wage-price freeze by boosting the price of 1971 football tickets.

The Justice Department action was the nation's third suit and the first in the eight-state Southeast region arising from the economic measures taken by the President to restore the national economy.

Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, chairman of the Cost of Living Council, said he was "disappointed that such a flagrant violation of the wage-price freeze should occur in the world of professional sports, which has benefited from widespread public support."

Connally, who has advocated "get-tough" enforcement policy during the freeze, added that he is "hopeful the owners of the Falcons will not prolong this case and will quickly make restitution to their many loyal supporters."

Officials of the Atlanta team were not talkative Monday immediately after the suit was filed. "I have no knowledge of it (the suit)," said Frank E. Wall, president of the National Football League club. He declined further comment.

Another team official said fans have been encouraged to hold their ticket stubs until the dispute is resolved.

A federal attorney attached to the Southeastern regional headquarters of the Office of Emergency Preparedness in Atlanta said the team was cited for increasing upper and lower level seating cost from $6 to $7.50 and boosting club level seats from $10 to $12.50.

William P. Gaffney, assistant U. S. attorney, said Falcon officials have estimated they would be required to refund $380,000 to fans who have attended two games already played by the team and those who have made seating arrangements for other matches to be played during the remainder of the 90-day freeze.

The Falcons Saturday filed suit in the same court seeking a declaratory judgement that the ticket price increase does not violate the wage-price controls.

The two other legal actions connected with the price-wage freeze were taken against a Louisiana school district which granted a pay hike for teachers and against a Texas landlord who boosted rent on two apartments.

Kramer Hits Back at King-Casals

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The controversy between tennis stars Rosemary Casals and Billie Jean King and Jack Kramer continues into its second set with shoving matches by both sides.

The women walked out of the Pacific Southwest Tennis tournament here during their final singles match in protest over rulings by a line judge.

Monday, tournament director Kramer said he had turned the case over to the discipline committee of the USLTA, and the prize money, $4,000 for the winner, $2,500 for the runnerup, would be withheld until the USLTA decided upon possible fines or suspensions of the two women.

"They'll get nothing if I can help it," he said.

The women, who are in Phoenix this week to play in the Thunderbird Tennis Tournament, have reacted to Kramer's volley with a stiff return.

Miss Casals said, "Kramer is being silly about the whole thing."

Mrs. King fumed, "I think Jack Kramer basically doesn't like women's tennis." The two announced they had retained a lawyer to help them fight for their prize money.

Kramer chipped back: he said he hopes the incident "will lead to tougher rules and regulations to prevent an individual from ruining a whole tournament."

In Houston, Gladys Heldman, publisher of World Tennis magazine, said she had spoken by phone to Mrs. King and Miss Casals and that the whole matter had been settled.

The two stars had agreed, she said, to self-imposed fines of $1,000 apiece, set by Pit Jones, manager of the women's tour, and had agreed to be I can't say."

Mrs. Heldman also said the players would receive prize money equal to "the money they would have received as losing semi-finalists only."

Questioned about the Heldman report, Miss Casals said, "I personally did not make that statement."

"All I know is the Virginia Slims tour will be fining us for $1,000 apiece, set by Pit Jones, manager of the women's tour, and had agreed to be I can't say."

Gil's Hunch Failed

NEW YORK (AP) — The Mets' "I wanted to see him in that situation."

But it turned out to be a wrong choice as Capra faced seven batters, walked four and gave up two hits. The Cardinals rolled up five runs and bounced the Mets 6-1 in 10 innings Monday night.

"I didn't want to use Frisella and I didn't want to use McGraw," because he pitched five innings on Saturday," said Manager Gil Hodges. "I'm honestly trying to win third place and this kid (Capra) has done a good job for me."

"This boy had two good outings before and got the ball over. I would not have brought him in if he had been that wild before."

The Mets' rookie reliever came in after starter Ray Sadecki had worked nine solid innings of two-hit ball.

Joe Torre, who hadn't a hit before, led off with a single. After a sacrifice, Capra purposely walked Joe Hague, then issued a free pass to Ted Kubiak to load the bases.

Matty Alou, pinch-hitting for Bob Stinson, belted a two-run double to right for the tie-breaking tallies. After Capra loaded the bases again with a walk, he forced in the third run with a walk to Lou Brock.

That was all for Capra, but it wasn't all the scoring for the Cardinals, who got a two-run single from Luis Melendez off Charlie Williams.

The Mets had taken a 1-0 lead as Cleon Jones drove home Bud Harrelson from third in the third inning. Sadecki didn't allow a hit until Stinson singled in the sixth, when the Cardinals scored their first run.

St. Louis starter Santiago Guzman sacrificed Stinson to second, then Brock drove in the run with a sharp single to left.

Punt, Pass and Kick Competition Here

KINGSTON Time is running out for boys in the Kingston area to register for the 1971 Punt, Pass, and Kick competition.

Ross Johnson, Ford Dealer sponsoring the youth activity in this area, said that registration would be taken through Friday at Johnson Ford near the Thruway traffic circle.

Competition will take place on Saturday at 10:30 a.m. in Forsyth Park.

"Although time is growing short, any boys eight to 13 years of age can still compete," said Johnson. "All he needs to do is come into our showroom, accompanied by a parent or guardian, and fill out the PP&K registration form. There's no entry fee or charge of any kind, and that goes for all six levels of competition, up to and including the national finals."

The Ford Dealer pointed out that first, second, and third place trophies will be awarded in the local event in each of the six age groups. Increasing the boys' chances of winning one of the 18 trophies is the fact that each boy competes against other boys in his own age. And since there is no body contact, a boy's size is not as important as his ability to punt, pass and place-kick for distance with accuracy.

"Winners can keep right on going up through the zone, district area and division contests to the national finals," the Ford Dealer said. It's a possibility that one or more of our local winners could wind up in the finals, which this year will be held at the Super Bowl game on Jan. 16. Here finalists and their parents as Ford's guests will take a tour of New Orleans, enjoy a Banquet of Champions celebration, and have the chance to meet some of the top pro players and coaches.

"Registering for PP&K right now in our dealership could mean all that for some young-ster or youngsters here in Kingston, but they should register right now," Johnson concluded.

When he registers, each boy gets a free PP&K Tips Book. It contains helpful pointers from the pros on punting, passing, and kicking. In the '71 edition are suggestions from NFL stars Dave Lewis, John Brodie, and Curt Knight, plus Coaches of the Year Don McCafferty and Tom Landry. Complete PP&K rules and suggested conditioning exercises for contestants are also included.

This is the 11th year PP&K has been sponsored by the Ford Dealers of America and the National Football League. In that time more than 7,000,000 boys have taken part in PP&K, making it the biggest youth activity of its kind in America.

Cahill Used Old Trick

NEW YORK (UPI)—Coaches Tom Cahill of Army and John Bateman of Rutgers played that old game of psychological warfare to spur their squads on to shocking upsets last weekend.

Army, a 28-point underdog to Georgia Tech, stunned the Yellow Jackets 16-13 while Rutgers walloped heavily favored Princeton 33-18 in a renewal of the nation's oldest college football rivalry.

Cahill and Bateman had their respective teams at an emotional peak even before the opening kickoff as both coaches used embarrassing press clippings to psych their players.

"Our victory just brings out the emotional aspects of a football game," said Cahill Monday at the weekly luncheon of the Eastern College Football coaches. "We arrived in Atlanta on Friday night and saw the score 34-3 predicted in the papers. That didn't sit well with our squad."

Bateman said he pulled out all the stops to get his players ready for Princeton. "UPI picked us to lose 45-0," said Bateman. "I don't think any team should walk on the field as 45 point underdogs."

Bateman tacked the clipping to the bulletin board to remind his team just how bad they were supposed to be.

Then, Rutgers went out, and, according to Princeton coach Jake McCandless, "didn't make any errors." The Scarlet Knights scored the first time they had the ball and forced a Princeton fumble after the ensuing kickoff. The score was 19-0 at the end of the first quarter as the shocked Palmer Stadium crowd watched the charged up Rutgers team run all over the field like a pack of screaming banshees.

Rutgers, which had lost 51 of the previous 61 meetings between the two neighboring New Jersey schools, was beaten by Lafayette 13-7 the week before while Princeton, considered a major contender for the Ivy League title, was making its season debut.

Sportsmen Race To Eddie Davis

MIDDLETOWN Hometown driver Eddie Davis won the 50 lap Limited Sportsmen championship race at Orange County Fair Speedway Saturday and Brian DuBois won the point title in the Semi-Late Model class.

Davis took the lead on the 35th lap and held on with his Higbie Brothers vehicle to win going away.

DuBois' victory gave him a one point overall win in his class. Russ Myers of Hawthorne, N.J., was the hard-luck runner-up.

Next action at the Speedway will be on Oct. 24 when the 10th annual Eastern States 200 is held. More than 100 top named drivers are expected to compete.

FOUNTAIN OF YOUTH — Running up a 45-point bulge can make you thirsty. So John Carter (16) of Kingston High School's varsity football team took time out Saturday during the Maroons' thrashing of Linton to try a new portable water cooler which was donated to the team by the KHS Boosters. In the background is End Dennis Harrison (14). Bill Dunn of Central Hudson, an amateur photographer, caught the scene on film.

Bob Rizzuti Takes Open

HIGH FALLS Bob Rizzuti of New Paltz fashioned a 36-hole score of 80-78-158 to win the first annual Stone Dock Open golf tournament at Stone Dock golf course. Rizzuti finished with a six-stroke margin over runnerup Ridge Tremper, who carded 164. Others leaders were Si Pesavento with 167, Ed Lattin 167, and Phil Buchanan 168.

The tournament was played under strict USGA rules and despite some casual water, the course played well.

"In a special inter-club team match Rondout Pool, Golf and Tennis Association golfers defeated Stone Dock with net 1108 to 1119. A return match is scheduled Oct. 3 at Rondout.

Dick Despres paced Rondout with low gross 84 and net 66. Bob Rosenkranse had net 70. Ron Keener led Stone Dock with low gross (83) and low net (68). Wilson Stoutenberg had 84 gross and Joe Donlon posted a net 68.

Murray Team Tops Seniors

WINDHAM Pro Jim Murray, who is attached in the Northeastern New York PGA this season, attached himself to a seasonal title Monday, teaming with Frank Agresta for a 28-32-67 to win the PGA's Pro-Senior-Amateur championship at Windham Country Club.

As a matter of fact, Murray and his second partner, Jim Pepe, cashed in on second place with 30-32-62. He posted 32-39-71 on his own ball.

Ralph Montoya, the long hitting Normanside pro, who led the pro division with 32-34-66, and his partner, shared a three-way tie at 63.

Lou Merkle was runnerup in the pro division with 69 and Murray tied for third with 71.

Jim Hutchins of Woodstock led the Ulster County contingent with 74. Smith of Sawyerkill Country Club had 75 and Alex Gerlak of Twaalfskill posted a 76.

The results:

Pro-Senior-Amateur
Jim Murray-Frank Agresta, 28-32-60; Jim Murray-Frank Pepe, 30-32-62; Ralph Montoya-Henry Kiernan, 31-32-63; John Doctor-George Bourdeau, 31-32-63; John Gaucas-Tom Evers, 32-32-64; John Doctor-John Trudeau, 30-34-64; Pat Palmieri-Charles Bourdeau, 34-30-64; Bob Haggerty Jr.-Paul Ardell, 32-32-64; Ralph Montoya-George Allen, 31-33-64.

(Pro Division)
Ralph Montoya, 32-34-66; Lou Merkle 33-36-69; Jim Murray, 32-39-71; John Doctor, 34-37-71; Joe Sondey, 37-37-74; James Hutchins, 36-38-74; Bob Haggerty Jr., 35-40-75; Stew Smith, 38-37-75; Glenn Young, 36-39-75.

Larry Ostrander, 36-40-76; Alex Gerlak, 38-38-76; Joe Maley, 37-40-77; Pat Palmieri, 38-40-78; Bill Gressick, 40-39-79; Lou Pedulla, 39-40-79; Jetty La Vergne, 40-39-79; Joe Kendall, 40-40-80; Earl Roy, 37-43-80; Ian Robertson, 43-39-82; John Gay, 43-40-83; John Maxwell, 39-44-83.

With Hunter guaranteeing the snow, the Ski Patrol the fun, the Hunter opening will be the best in the area, said Messrs. Orville and Israel Slutsky. Ski patrolmen from all over the east will be on hand to assist in the festivities.

The benefit for NSP enabled the patrol to continue providing more and better trained patrolmen to serve the skiing public.

Big Doings At Hunter

Israel and Orville Slutsky, owners of Hunter Mountain, have announced their opening for the 1971-72 ski season will be a day of major importance for Eastern skiers. The date is Nov. 26, 1971.

The gala opening at Hunter includes the second annual National Ski Patrol System benefit day, with profits donated to the NSPS.

The new John Clair ski trail will be dedicated and opened. Many attractive prizes will be awarded in a special skiers event. The day-long program concludes with a social hour.

P. Monroe Sizzling

KINGSTON Perry Monroe of Highland opened defense of his Ulster County Athletic League point scoring title with a bang.

Figures show that Powerful Perry has tallied four touchdowns in Highland's first two games of the season for a total of 24 points.

Second to Monroe is teammate John Barrington with 16 markers on two T's and two two-point conversions.

Five players are tied with 12 points, all on a pair of touchdowns. They are Joe Phelan and John Langling of Un-defeated Oteora, Charles Jones of Marlboro, Mark Walther of Wallkill, and Peter Mann of Liberty.

Freshman Joe Phis of Red Hook has one touchdown and three conversions for nine points. Then comes a trio of New Paltz High players, Jay Ackert, George Clark, and Joe Williams, all with eight.

Jones of Marlboro and Dan Theberge of Red Hook share the UCAL touchdown passing lead. Each field general has tossed a pair of six-pointers.

Modica-Moscowitz Woodstock Winners

WOODSTOCK Dean and Don Benham, first round leaders 61-67, but bounced back with a second round 63, while Dean and Benham skied to 73 and 134, only one stroke better than Kenneth Charlton and Maximilian Hauser, who finished with 66-69-135.

Modica keyed the team triumph with a sparkling one-over par 37-34-71 over the heavy, sodden Woodstock fairways in the second round. He fired successive birdies on the 11th and 12th holes the second time around the course.

Anthony J. Pizzarelli and Capt. Donald Fardon, who opened with 66 added 70 for 136 to share a tie with William Donovan and Oscar Vanden Dooren, who rallied from a 72 opener with 64.

Strong second rounds enabled Paul Barlow and Joseph Fitzsimmons to tie Ray DuBois and George Rush with best ball 137s. The Barlow-Fitzsimmons tandem fired 70-67, while DuBois and Rush carded 71-66-137.

Dick Bradley and Arthur Barone fashioned rounds of 70-69 tie at 139 with Jack Lee and Ted King, who fired 68-71-139.

Four teams equaled the course par of 140 for 36 holes with their handicaps. Dr. Grant B. Morse and Noel France had 68-72-140; Floyd Perkins-Charles Prill, 72-68-140; Michael Boyle-Clayton Harder, 68-72-140; and Morton Brett-Gifford Morey, 72-68-140.

No fee is being charged for the course.

Further information may be obtained by contacting Dale Numrich at the Sports Center.

Pheasant Season Opposed By Federated Sportsmen

ST. REMY The Federated Sportsmen's Clubs of Ulster County are still opposed to any more hen pheasant seasons in the county and have expressed keen disappointment that the Conservation Department has not honored their request to end them.

At its May 1971 meeting, the Federation went on record opposing hen seasons and petitioned the Conservation Department to accede to its request.

Federation president William Meyer, speaking at the September meeting, said that because of the state's policy of not stocking any more pheasants and because the sportsmen themselves provide for approximately 90 per cent of all pheasants released in the county, "the Federation feels very disappointed that the Department did not honor our request to end the hen pheasant season."

"We are sending the Conservation Department another letter asking why our request has not been honored," said Meyer.

Approximately 700 pheasants were recently released in Wallkill, Pine Bush, New Paltz, Samsonville, Stone Ridge, Hurley, Lake Katrine and Saugerties. These pheasants were raised by boys and girls of the Ulster County 4-H Division.

Game Chairman Frank McCord said that Federation pheasants may be picked up Saturday, Oct. 6, between 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. at Curtis Pine's in Binnewater. Rain date for picking up birds will be Oct. 23. The Federation will release 1,730 birds this year. Clubs needing pheasant crates will be able to purchase them from Pine.

This year the Federation has set an early deadline on requests from the clubs for white rabbits or pheasants for stocking. Requests should be addressed to Game Chairman McCord no later than Oct. 14, if they want white rabbits or pheasants for 1972.

Fish chairman Frank Kraus reported that 64,203 brown trout and 7,472 brook trout have been placed in county waters this year. There will also be trout fingerling stocking in October.

Four clubs—Vly, Marletown, Lake Hill and High Point Mountain—will receive trout the week of Oct. 3. The trout have been secured through the Enabling Act Fund and the fish chairmen of these clubs will be notified of the place, date and time to meet the hatchery truck.

The Skikari Club of New Paltz was accepted into membership by the Federation. This is a new club organized in 1970. Next Federation meeting will be held Oct. 14 at Walker Valley Firehouse on Route 52 in Walker Valley.

Your Horoscope

Wednesday, September 29

GENERAL TENDENCIES: Now you have an unusually good day and evening, designed for the idealistic and for problem solving. You would certainly be wise to get in touch with friends and acquaintances who you can help attain desired ambitions and much joint-success can ensue.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Get in touch with friends who can assist you in a new project. The social side of life can be very good for you, especially in the evening. Avoid arguments.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) Your Venus charm can be used to good advantage today in dealing with others, especially higher-ups. Projects in the outside world can come to a head now. Make hay while the sun shines.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Forget dull routines and study brochures, magazines and newspapers for the information you want. Gain favors from those who are out of town. State your plans clearly and well.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You have been procrastinating where responsibilities are concerned, so start early and put them out of the way now. Later you can be romantic. Avoid extravagances.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) A fine day to come to a real understanding with an associate who has been difficult. Someone who has opposed you can now be considered a friend. Show others that you are an intelligent person.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) Use more modern methods and it will be easier to accomplish your duties. You can improve your health during your spare moments. Avoid one who wants to control you too much.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) You can be with congenials today during your spare time for a most delightful time together. Show that you are particularly devoted to loved one. Spend only within your income.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21)

If you try to please kin, you get excellent results and increase harmony in the future. Invite persons to your home who are helpful. Good advice will be offered. Listen carefully.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) You have clever ideas and can now get the cooperation of others to put them in operation. Once your work is done relax with persons you like. Engage in your hobbies.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You like to have that feeling of prosperity and can do something now to gain it. Discuss with a prominent person who is willing to give you advice on how you can emulate methods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) You can gain personal goals easily now, so get an early start on them. Friends will be cooperative in this. Since you are very dynamic, you quickly gain the favor of others.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Listen to the advice a clever person gives you. It will help you advance more quickly now and in the future. Don't confide in others or you could lose out where it counts most.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN TODAY... he or she will be one of those naturally lucky individuals who can accomplish almost anything, provided you teach early to be more discreet in picking friends, otherwise your youngster could go in the wrong direction, in life and become notorious instead of famous. Give the right spiritual training and send to the proper schools that will bring together persons of good character and brains.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

DRUG ROAD: (Q.) All my friends are on drugs, and so am I. Not acid or smack, but grass and pills. I use them as a substitute for love. I so long for a "nice" boy friend. None of the boys around here are nice.

By a miracle I am still a virgin. But I am very depressed and I cry often.

Church is not the answer. I don't go any longer, because boys in this town don't go to church.

I need the security and love only a boy friend can give. I will appreciate any advice or encouragement you can give me.—Discouraged at 18.

(A.) Despite your no-no, your letter tells me that you realize the only answer for you is spiritual. Now take the next step. Talk to your minister today. Tell him the truth. Don't gloss it over or pretty it up. Ask him to help you.

Somewhere in your church is a place for you. You may not be able to find a boy friend right away, but that is not the most important thing. The important thing now is to find yourself.

You won't find yourself, or anything of value, on the road you are taking now.

HOPE CHEST: (Q.) I am a junior in high school, 16, and have started my hope chest. Do you think I am too young? My mother says I am. Also, I just don't know where to start. My girl friend says you save for the bathroom, the bedroom, and the kitchen. But which comes first? — Early Start in Maine.

(A.) No girl can start too early on her hope chest. And where you start is not so important as starting. Besides the rooms you mention, don't forget the dining room, living room, and den. Be sure most of all to get items that are of quality material and workmanship and design, things that will not only last but that you will be proud to have and show for a long time.

Want personal answers to your questions? Write to Jean Adams, Box 2402, Houston, Texas 77001. Only letters that include a stamped, self-addressed envelope will be answered.

Some Snubbing Along Way

NEW YORK (AP) — The first national Nielsen ratings of the new television season hit the industry Monday with an impact similar to the winds of Hurricane Doria.

During the Sept. 13-19 period, when the new programs of all three networks were having their premieres, it appears that most viewers were visiting old friends and watching old movies instead of looking at new arrivals—and snubbing some important movie stars newly arrived in televisionland.

Most popular program of the week was "Marcus Welby, M.D.," a situation likely to prevail throughout the season since the ABC series not only has a lot of devotees but no network competition during the first 30 minutes of its hour. CBS' "Gunsmoke," which is a part of the "Mystery Movie," was second, and CBS' broadcast of the 1967 hit movie, "Guess Who's Coming to Dinner?" was in show position. Other programs among the top 10 in popularity that week included "Gunsmoke," "Laugh in," a Bob Hope special, the ABC "Movie of the Week" and an old John Wayne western.

The only new program in that illustrious company was "Columbo," the miniseries starring Peter Falk which is a part of NBC's "Mystery Movie."

Audience measurements during the premiere week are considered to be insignificant in terms of the ultimate success or failure of programs. They do hold, however, some fascinating clues about the public's interest.

For instance, a new situation comedy starring teen-age singing idol, Bobby Sherman, and called "Getting Together" wound up almost on the bottom of the list of 68 programs. And "Shirley's World," starring Shirley MacLaine, a movie then there was "Funny star, was 65 on the roster. "The Face," starring a practically unknown newcomer, Sandy 51, was obviously buried by Duncan. It ranked 20th. It competition from the Katharine came to television on the heels of Heppburn Spencer Tracy movie, of an intensive publicity campaign. Quinn's "The Man and the City" was also far down the list.

Glenn Ford and "Cade'show."

Rockets, Mortars Rip Allies

SAIGON (UPI)—Allied positions along the Cambodian border came under intense North Vietnamese and Viet Cong rocket and mortar bombardment Monday night and today in a third day of a pre-election Communist campaign against bases guarding infiltration routes to Saigon.

Military spokesmen said the Communist attacks appeared to be subsiding somewhat but that more than 200 rounds of rocket and mortar rounds were fired into South Vietnamese and American outposts overnight.

South Vietnamese spokesmen said at least 230 Communist troops had been killed in the three days since the Communist offensive began with government losses of 28 dead and 176 wounded. At least five Americans were wounded in three mortar attacks Monday night and today against Fire Base Pace 78 miles northwest of Saigon and one mile from Cambodia.

An American spotter plane sighted the bodies of 110 Communist troops Monday in an area two miles northeast of the Cambodian rubber plantation town of Krok, eight miles across the border and 85 miles north of Saigon. The South Vietnamese command included the 110 in its official report of Communist troops killed.

Heavy fighting—the most intense since the allied incursion into Cambodia in May and June of 1970—was reported Sunday and Monday around Krok with North Vietnamese troops firing nearly 800 mortars and rockets into South Vietnamese main force bases in and around the battered city.

Gen. Nguyen Xuan Tinh, commander of the South Vietnamese 25th Infantry Division, said the government has one division against two North Vietnamese divisions along the frontier.

Military sources said the Communists were trying to inflict embarrassing defeats on the allies and timing it just before Sunday's forthcoming presidential election in South Vietnam.

American spokesmen said the two GIs were killed Monday when their OH6 observation helicopter was shot down over the U. Finh Forest 145 miles southwest of Saigon. U.S. command policy B52 raid locations inside Cambodia are not pinpointed.

Senator Renews Viet Deadline

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield has renewed his campaign to have Congress declare a six-month deadline for U.S. military withdrawal from South Vietnam. He says he would be delighted if President Nixon beat him to it.

Mansfield proposed an amendment to add his end-of-war legislation to a $21-billion bill authorizing funds for missiles, ships, warplanes and other weaponry.

He said if it is stymied this time—as it was once before—by deadlock and compromise between the Senate and the House, he will propose it all over again.

"Nothing would please me better than an announcement from the White House setting a time certain for withdrawal," Mansfield said as he introduced again the amendment which, with one variation, was approved by the Senate June 22, only to die in the face of House opposition.

The one change: the earlier version would have declared it U.S. policy that all American military forces be withdrawn from Indochina within nine months. Mansfield said he subtracted the three months since Senate approval of the measure, resulting in a six-month deadline.

The withdrawal timetable is subject to release of all American prisoners of war held by the Communists in North Vietnam or elsewhere.

"Insofar as I am personally concerned," Mansfield said Monday, "the fate of these men, at this late date, is the only significant basis for this nation to remain any longer in Vietnam."

Sen. John C. Stennis, D-Miss., chairman of the Armed Services Committee and leader of the opposition to the amendment, has not said when he would be willing to have a vote.

The earlier Mansfield measure was adopted June 22 as an amendment to the draft extension bill. It faced two votes, passing the first 57 to 42, and the second, 61 to 38. So, unless there is a major shift, Mansfield appears to have the votes to win again.

Hirohito, Empress Busy as Tourists

COPENHAGEN (UPI) — Emperor Hirohito made history today as a tourist. He was the first reigning Japanese monarch to venture abroad in the 2,631-year history of the Chrysanthemum Throne.

The shy, bespectacled emperor, 70, and his wife, Empress Nagako, 68, had a busy tourist schedule on the first full day of their 17-day tour of seven European countries. They were visiting the Royal Danish Porcelain Factory, the famed "Little Mermaid" statue on Copenhagen's waterfront, and Hamlet's Kronborg Castle in Elsinor before lunching with King Frederik and Queen Ingrid of Denmark.

Hirohito's arrival Monday night was marred by attempted demonstrations by militant Japanese students. Police said an estimated 30 of the students had traveled to Denmark to protest against what leaflets distributed by the group said was the "new Japanese militarism and the imperial system."

Two of the students were arrested shortly before the emperor's chartered Japan Airlines jet landed at Copenhagen's Kastrup Airport. Police said they confiscated one Molotov cocktail from the students, who were equipped with helmets and staves.

The two students were appearing in court today charged with plotting to attack a foreign head of state, a police spokesman said. They faced up to three years in prison if convicted.

Police said the pair refused to make any statement or even to identify themselves.

After their arrival Monday night, Hirohito and his wife ate a light dinner at their hotel, then retired early after an exhausting trip which included a brief stopover at Anchorage, Alaska, where the emperor spent 25 minutes meeting with President Nixon.

On Wednesday morning they leave for Brussels and later visit France, Britain, The Netherlands, Switzerland and West Germany before returning to Japan.

Secrecy Covers Ulster Talks

LONDON (UPI)—The prime ministers of Great Britain, Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic today neared the end of two days of talks. There was total secrecy about any progress they might have made on solving the Ulster crisis.

They met for more than seven hours Monday at Chequers, British Prime Minister Edward Heath's official country residence. Prime Ministers Jack Lynch of the Irish Republic and Brian Faulkner of Northern Ireland drove back separately to London for the night.

Officials said only they agreed to say nothing about their first day of talks. They were resuming discussions.

It was the first time the heads of the three governments had met jointly since Ireland was partitioned 50 years ago between a largely Protestant North and an overwhelmingly Roman Catholic South.

It was the first time the two Irish leaders had met personally. The fact they talked for seven hours and agreed to meet again was interpreted by some political sources as a hopeful omen.

But British government sources cautioned disagreements between the Dublin and Ulster governments in the two Irish states are so great — and both Lynch and Faulkner under such strong political pressures at home—that it would be difficult for either to make much in the way of concessions.

The talks were called by Heath in a last-ditch effort to stem the bloodshed that has brought Northern Ireland to the brink of civil war.

Doctors fought today to save the life of a British soldier wounded during 24 hours of violence which claimed one of the highest single day army casualty tolls in two years of Northern Ireland bloodshed.

Pvt. Roger Wilkins, 32, fell in a burst of machinegun fire during an attack Monday night on an army observation post in Londonderry.

He underwent emergency surgery for removal of bullets from his head. His wife, expecting the couple's sixth child, kept an all night vigil at his bedside.

As the prime ministers of Britain, Northern Ireland and the Irish Republic met in London to seek ways out of strife between minority Roman Catholics and majority Protestants, clashes in three cities wounded 10 British soldiers.
